BRITISH LOSS HEAVY

Known Total of 916 to Which 1,200 May Be Added.

ARTILLERY DUEL AT LADYSMITH.

Boers Again Shelled British Camp—Naval Guns Replied Effectively—Boer Loss Probably Heavy—Mules Stampeded Caused British Disaster.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A careful calculation of the British losses in all the engagements since the outbreak of hostilities—excluding the casualties among the non-commissioned officers and men in Monday's disaster at Ladysmith, which are thus far unknown here—gives a total of 916, to which probably 1,200 will need to be added when details regarding the Ladysmith reverse are received.

This total is made up as follows: Officers, 133; 19 being killed, 61 wounded and 53 captured. Men, 783; being 137 killed, 492 wounded and 154 captured. The war office issued the following additional list of 58 casualties sustained by General Buller's force from the time of the battle of Glencoe until it joined the force of Sir George White: King's rifles—Four killed and 13 wounded.

Leicestershire regiment—One wounded, nine missing. Artillery—One killed, one wounded, two missing. Mounted infantry—Twenty-seven missing.

The last mentioned were attached to the squadron of the Eighteenth Hussars that was entrapped by the Boers after the battle of Glencoe. They were undoubtedly captured with the hussars.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—An unconfirmed statement is published that General Sir Redvers Buller has left Cape Town for Ladysmith.

A belated dispatch from Ladysmith, describing the fight, said:

"A couple of squadrons of Hussars had a narrow escape from disaster early in the day. They found themselves suddenly confronted, within easy range, by an overwhelming force of Boers, who seemed to spring from the bowels of the earth. The Hussars were splendidly handled, and were extricated with only one man wounded."

The queen is credited with expressing sincere pity for Sir George Stewart White, and the officials are in no wise inclined to judge him harshly. So far as the public is concerned, however, while gratification is felt at the manner in which the isolated battalions surrendered, there is still severe criticism for General White and Lieutenant Colonel Carleton for allowing the column to get out of touch, for the absence of proper scouting and for not retiring when the ammunition was lost. In favor of Lieutenant Colonel Carleton, the explanation is hazarded that he believed it was imperative to the success of General White's operations that he should hold the position at Nicholson's Nek.

The British war office made public this dispatch from General White: Ladysmith, Oct. 31.—(7.50 p. m.)—I took out from Ladysmith a brigade of mounted troops, two brigade divisions of the Royal artillery, the Natal field battery and two brigades of infantry, to reconnoiter in force the enemy's main position to the north and if the opportunity should offer to capture the hill behind Farquhar's farm, which had on the previous day been held in strength by the enemy. In connection with this advance, a column, consisting of the Tenth mountain artillery, four half companies of the Gloucesters and six companies of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, the whole under Lieutenant Colonel Carleton and Major Ayle, deputy assistant general, was dispatched at 11 p. m., on the 29th, to march by night up Bell's Spruit and seize Nicholson's Nek, or some position near Nicholson's Nek, thus turning the enemy's right flank.

The main advance was successfully carried out, the objective of the attack being found evacuated, and an artillery duel between our field batteries and the enemy's guns of the position and Maxims is understood to have caused heavy loss to the enemy. The reconnaissance forced the enemy to fully disclose his position and, after a strong counter attack on our right, the infantry brigade and cavalry had been repulsed and the troops were slowly withdrawn to camp.

pickets being left on observation. Late in the engagement the naval contingent, under Captain Lambton of H. A. S. Powerful, came into action and silenced, with their extremely accurate fire, the enemy's guns of position.

The circumstances which attended the movements of Lieutenant Carleton's column are not yet fully known, but from reports received the column appears to have carried out the night march unmolested until within two miles of Nicholson's Nek. At this point two boulders rolled from the hill and a few rifle shots stampeded the infantry ammunition mules. The stampede spread to the battery mules, which broke loose from their leaders and got away with practically the whole of the gun equipment and the greater portion of the regimental small-arm ammunition. The reserve was similarly lost.

The infantry battalion, however, fixed bayonets and, accompanied by the personnel of the artillery, seized a hill on the left of the road, two miles from the nek, with but little opposition. There they remained unmolested till dawn, the time being occupied in organizing the defense of the hill and constructing stone sangars and walls as cover from fire. At dawn a skirmishing attack on our position was commenced by the enemy, but made no way until 9.30 a. m., when strong reinforcements enabled them to rush to the attack with great energy. Their fire became very searching and two companies of the Gloucesters in an advanced position were ordered to fall back. The enemy then pressed to short range, the losses on our side becoming very numerous.

At 3 p. m. our ammunition was practically exhausted, the position was captured and the survivors of the column fell into the enemy's hands.

The enemy treated our wounded with humanity. General Joubert at once dispatching a letter to me offering safe conduct to doctors and ambulances to remove the wounded. A medical officer and parties to render first aid to the wounded were dispatched to the scene of action from Ladysmith last night and the ambulance at dawn this morning.

The want of success of the column was due to the misfortune of the mules stampeding and the consequent loss of the guns and small-arm ammunition reserve.

The official list of casualties and prisoners will be reported shortly. The latter are understood to have been sent by rail to Pretoria.

The security of Ladysmith is in no way affected.

It was announced in a special dispatch from Ladysmith that the Boers again closed around that place, sending shells into the British camp. The two guns landed from the British cruiser Powerful opened fire on the Boers the next morning. The Boers brought up more guns, but some of them were silenced. It is added that the Boers' loss must have been heavy. The garrison at Ladysmith was described as being in good spirits and confident and the troops were full of fight.

Opinion of the Commission in Their Verbal Report to President McKinley.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Philippine commission made a verbal report to the president for use in preparing his message.

A member of the cabinet, speaking of the verbal report, said in part:

Wood Described Fight on Diseases.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The war department made public the report of Brigadier General Leonard Wood. ## REBELS DEMORALIZED

Young's Rapid Advance Puzzling to Them.

REPORTED FLEEING TO THE HILLS.

Telegraph Operator Caught—Telegram to Aguinaldo Secured Saying Lawton Was Dead—Small Cannons, Ammunition and Food Supplies Captured.

MANILA, Nov. 2.—All signs show that General Young's rapid advance is demoralizing the insurgents northward. Prisoners report them to be fleeing to the hills. There are many deserters and sick men and the former are taking their arms to the Americans. The cavalry's rapid movements are a puzzle to the insurgents, who think that the Americans, in striking so many places, must have overwhelming forces.

Aguinaldo is personally conducting the campaign. He is asking the people for rice and is trying to replenish the army with recruits, but without success.

General Young's column entered Cabanatuan, north of San Isidro. Colonel Parker, with two troops of the Fourth cavalry, took possession of the deserted town. Captain Batson captured a telegraph operator and his escort, finding a telegram to Aguinaldo from an insurgent colonel, reporting that General Lawton was killed in a recent fight and that his body had been sent to Manila. The operator added that 600 insurgents were approaching Alhaga from Tarlac. Batson placed his scouts in ambush awaiting them.

Colonel Hays, with four troops of the Fourth cavalry, charged the towns of Talavera and Cobal, dispersing 150 insurgents and pursuing them for three miles without any loss. They captured two brass cannon and a quantity of ammunition, including many Hotchkiss shells. Captain Batson took a storehouse and quantities of rice, sugar, corn and 40 bul carats.

General Hughes, commanding in the Pisayan district, sent in an encouraging report. He said the island of Negros is now more peaceful and orderly than for 20 years. The planters are pursuing their business undisturbed by the bands of brigands who had long levied tribute on them. The Americans have scattered the brigands and propose to pursue them until they are effectually suppressed.

The British steamer Lebuon of Hongkong, 500 tons, with a prize crew from the United States gunboat Castine on board has arrived here. She was captured while running the blockade of Zamboanga. She had unloaded her cargo of merchandise.

TAGALOS WANT PEACE.

Chiefs in Mindanao Made Proposals to Otis—Rebel Appeal to the United States Negro Troops.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Mail advices to the war department indicated that through the efforts of Mr. K. Engelskjön, a gentleman of Norwegian birth, who enjoys the confidence of the Tagalo chiefs in Mindanao, overtures of peace were made to General Otis at Manila. What action General Otis took was not stated.

They have suffered greatly from the incursions of the Moros and offer to submit to the authority of the United States on the sole condition that sufficient American garrisons be established in the island to protect them.

An escaped Spanish prisoner confirmed the report that the insurgents were running short of Mauser ammunition. He said, however, that they were well supplied with Remington ammunition, which they manufactured for themselves. They also manufactured dynamite and powder from petroleum and salt, which was shipped to them from Manila and taken into their lines at night. Of the 14 American prisoners held by the insurgents at Tarlac the rebels claimed that four had accepted commissions in the insurgent army.

Two scotchmen named McKinley and Mackintosh, who escaped, said that the insurgents claimed to have 250 American prisoners scattered through the various towns, but they knew of none personally excepting Lieutenant Gilmore and his 14 sailors. The insurgents said they had two American officers in confinement besides Lieutenant Gilmore. Colonel Smith, at Angeles, sent to

General MacArthur a placard in Spanish which was found nailed to a tree outside the line. It was an appeal to the colored troops to join the insurgents in the fight for freedom and referred to "your brothers Sam Hose and Gray, whose blood calls aloud for vengeance."

TWO SOLDIERS KILLED.

One of Them Corporal Keder and Another Winsor S. Stanley—A List of Wounded.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—General Otis cabled the following casualties to the war department:

Manila, Nov. 1, killed—Twenty-second infantry, at San Isidro, Oct. 19, Company K, Corporal Ephraim S. Keder; Thirty-sixth infantry, at Luhoa, 29th, G. Winsor R. Stanley. Wounded—Twenty-first infantry, at Calamba, 23d, D. Edward G. Hellen, foot, slight; Fourteenth infantry, at Imus, 6th, H. Corporal Henry Overbay, foot, severe; Twenty-second infantry, at San Isidro, 19th, F. Griggin Andrews, forearm, severe; I. Charles H. Pierce, thigh, severe; K. Haddy B. Johnson, leg, severe; Thirty-sixth infantry, at Luhoa, 29th, C. Corporal John Swank, arms, slight; James Pitt, back, slight; Hardy L. Lawrence, thigh, slight; Third artillery, K. Thomas H. Dow, shoulder, slight; hospital corps, James Rutledge, thigh, slight; at San Isidro, 19th, Claude B. Day, hand, slight.

PARTITION OF SAMOA

BEING NEGOTIATED

United States to Remain, England or Germany to Step Out—Not Fully Agreed on Terms.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The negotiations for the partition of the Samoan islands are proceeding rapidly and officials here would not be surprised if a final agreement was reached in the near future. The discussion is going on in London, with the co-operation of the authorities here and in Berlin. The determination was reached that not more than two powers, and preferably one, should govern the islands. It soon developed that an agreement was not likely to be reached giving the entire group to one power.

It seemed to be generally accepted by the negotiators that the United States would be one of the two powers to be represented, and that the island of Tutuila, on which the harbor of Pago Pago is located, would naturally fall to the lot of the United States, subject to the approval of the Berlin authorities and the United States senate. It is understood that the British authorities quite fully coincided with this view.

One of the remaining islands, Upolu, is of much value, while the other, Savaii, is practically valueless.

It is suggested that Great Britain cede the Gilbert and Solomon islands to Germany, the latter retiring from Samoa. The Fiji islands and some other points also have been considered during the discussion, but thus far Germany has not acted favorably on the suggestion, and there have been evidences that she preferred to retain her interests and make compensation to Great Britain. This remains open and appears to be the chief point remaining in the way of a final adjustment.

The foregoing general outline was given in quarters well informed on the general lines of the negotiation, although it was with the reservation that the understandings were merely formulative and still open to material change.

THREE DEAD AND THREE MISSING.

The Fatal Collapse of a Large Building in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Three men are dead and three others are reported missing as the result of the collapse of a six-story building at 139 and 141 West Lake street. Considerable damage was done adjoining property. About $200,000 damage was done.

Glassworks Secured by Combine.

WHEELING, Nov. 2.—The National Glass company, the tableware combine, acquired two plants in the Wheeling district, for $202,500 the Crystal Glass company's plant at Bridgeport and for $50,000 the West Virginia company's works at Martins Ferry. The only plant in Wheeling outside the combine but the Old Hobbs plant, owned by the United States Glass company, is to be purchased by a local syndicate headed by United States Senator N. B. Scott for $52,500.

King's rifles—Four killed and 13 wounded.

Leicestershire regiment—One wounded, nine missing.

Artillery—One killed, one wounded, two missing.

Mounted infantry—Twenty-seven missing.

The last mentioned were attached to the squadron of the Eighteenth Hussars that was entrapped by the Boers after the battle of Glencoe. They were undoubtedly captured with the hussars.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—An unconfirmed statement is published that General Sir Redvers Buller has left Cape Town for Ladysmith.

A belated dispatch from Ladysmith, describing the fight, said:

"A couple of squadrons of Hussars had a narrow escape from disaster early in the day. They found themselves suddenly confronted, within easy range, by an overwhelming force of Boers, who seemed to spring from the bowels of the earth. The hussars were splendidly handled, and were extricated with only one man wounded."

The queen is credited with expressing sincere pity for Sir George Stewart White, and the officials are in no wise inclined to judge him harshly. So far as the public is concerned, however, while gratification is felt at the manner in which the isolated battalions surrendered, there is still severe criticism for General White and Lieutenant Colonel Carleton for allowing the column to get out of touch, for the absence of proper scouting and for not retiring when the ammunition was lost. In favor of Lieutenant Colonel Carleton, the explanation is hazarded that he believed it was imperative to the success of General White's operations that he should hold the position at Nicholson's Nek.

The British war office made public this dispatch from General White:

LADYSMITH, Oct. 31.—(7.50 p. m.)—I took out from Ladysmith a brigade of mounted troops, two brigade divisions of the Royal artillery, the Natal field battery and two brigades of infantry, to reconnoiter in force the enemy's main position to the north and if the opportunity should offer to capture the hill behind Farquhar's farm, which had on the previous day been held in strength by the enemy. In connection with this advance, a column, consisting of the Tenth mountain artillery, four half companies of the Gloucesters and six companies of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, the whole under Lieutenant Colonel Carleton and Major Adaye, deputy assistant general, was dispatched at 11 p. m., on the 29th, to march by night up Belis Spruit and seize Nicholson's Nek, or some position near Nicholson's Nek, thus turning the enemy's right flank.

The main advance was successfully carried out, the objective of the attack being found evacuated, and an artillery duel between our field batteries and the enemy's guns of the position and Maxim's is understood to have caused heavy loss to the enemy. The reconnaissance forced the enemy to fully disclose his position and, after a strong counter attack on our right, the infantry brigade and cavalry had been repulsed and the troops were slowly withdrawn to camp.

pickets being left on observation. Late in the engagement the naval contingent, under Captain Lambton of H. A. S. Powertul, came into action and silenced, with their extremely accurate fire, the enemy's guns of position.

The circumstances which attended the movements of Lieutenant Carleton's column are not yet fully known, but from reports received the column appears to have carried out the night march unmolested until within two miles of Nicholson's Nek. At this point two boulders rolled from the hill and a few rifle shots stamped the infantry ammunition mules. The stampede spread to the battery mules, which broke loose from their leaders and got away with practically the whole of the gun equipment and the greater portion of the regimental small-arm ammunition. The reserve was similarly lost.

The infantry battalion, however, fixed bayonets and, accompanied by the personnel of the artillery, seized a hill on the left of the road, two miles from the nek, with but little opposition. There they remained unmolested till dawn, the time being occupied in organizing the defense of the hill and constructing stone sangars and walls as cover from fire. At dawn a skirmishing attack on our position was commenced by the enemy, but made no way until 9.30 a. m., when strong reinforcements enabled them to rush to the attack with great energy. Their fire became very searching and two companies of the Gloucesters in an advanced position were ordered to fall back. The enemy then pressed to short range, the losses on our side becoming very numerous.

At 3 p. m. our ammunition was practically exhausted, the position was captured and the survivors of the column fell into the enemy's hands.

The enemy treated our wounded with humanity. General Joubert at once dispatching a letter to me offering safe conduct to doctors and ambulances to remove the wounded. A medical officer and parties to render first aid to the wounded were dispatched to the scene of action from Ladysmith last night and the ambulance at dawn this morning.

The want of success of the column was due to the misfortune of the mules stampeding and the consequent loss of the guns and small-arm ammunition reserve.

The official list of casualties and prisoners will be reported shortly. The latter are understood to have been sent by rail to Pretoria.

The security of Ladysmith is in no way affected.

It was announced in a special dispatch from Ladysmith that the Boers again closed around that place, sending shells into the British camp. The two guns landed from the British cruiser Powerful opened fire on the Boers the next morning. The Boers brought up more guns, but some of them were silenced. It is added that the Boers' loss must have been heavy. The garrison at Ladysmith was described as being in good spirits and confident and the troops were full of fight.

REBELS DEMORALIZED

Young's Rapid Advance Puz-
zling to Them.

REPORTED FLEEING TO THE HILLS.

Telegraph Operator Caught—Telegram
to Aguinaldo Secured Saying Lawton
Was Dead—Small Cannons, Ammunition
and Food Supplies Captured.

MANILA, Nov. 2.—All signs show that General Young's rapid advance is demoralizing the insurgents northward. Prisoners report them to be fleeing to the hills. There are many deserters and sick men and the former are taking their arms to the Americans. The cavalry's rapid movements are a puzzle to the insurgents, who think that the Americans, in striking so many places, must have overwhelming forces.

Aguinaldo is personally conducting the campaign. He is asking the people for rice and is trying to replenish the army with recruits, but without success.

General Young's column entered Cabanatuan, north of San Isidro. Colonel Parker, with two troops of the Fourth cavalry, took possession of the deserted town. Captain Batson captured a telegraph operator and his escort, finding a telegram to Aguinaldo from an insurgent colonel, reporting that General Lawton was killed in a recent fight and that his body had been sent to Manila. The operator added that 600 insurgents were approaching Aliaga from Tarlac. Batson placed his scouts in ambush awaiting them.

Colonel Hays, with four troops of the Fourth cavalry, charged the towns of Talavera and Cobal, dispersing 150 insurgents and pursuing them for three miles without any loss. They captured two brass cannon and a quantity of ammunition, including many Hotchkiss shells. Captain Batson took a storehouse and quantities of rice, sugar, corn and 40 bull carts.

General Hughes, commanding in the Pisayan district, sent in an encouraging report. He said the island of Negros is now more peaceful and orderly than for 20 years. The planters are pursuing their business undisturbed by the bands of brigands who had long levied tribute on them. The Americans have scattered the brigands and propose to pursue them until they are effectually suppressed.

The British steamer Lebuon of Hong-kong, 500 tons, with a prize crew from the United States gunboat Castine on board has arrived here. She was captured while running the blockade of Zamboanga. She had unloaded her cargo of merchandise.

TAGALOS WANT PEACE.

Chiefs in Mindanao Made Proposals to
Otis—Rebel Appeal to the United States Negro Troops.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Mail advices to the war department indicated that through the efforts of Mr. K. Engelskjøn, a gentleman of Norwegian birth, who enjoys the confidence of the Tagalo chiefs in Mindanao, overtures of peace were made to General Otis at Manila. What action General Otis took was not stated.

They have suffered greatly from the incursions of the Moros and offer to submit to the authority of the United States on the sole condition that sufficient American garrisons be established in the island to protect them.

An escaped Spanish prisoner confirmed the report that the insurgents were running short of Mauser ammunition. He said, however, that they were well supplied with Remington ammunition, which they manufactured for themselves. They also manufactured dynamite and powder from petroleum and salt, which was shipped to them from Manila and taken into their lines at night. Of the 14 American prisoners held by the insurgents at Tarlac the rebels claimed that four had accepted commissions in the insurgent army.

Two Scotchmen named McKinley and Mackintosh, who escaped, said that the insurgents claimed to have 250 American prisoners scattered through the various towns, but they knew of none personally excepting Lieutenant Gilmore and his 14 sailors. The insurgents said they had two American officers in confinement besides Lieutenant Gilmore. Colonel Smith, at Angeles, sent to

General MacArthur a placard in Spanish which was found nailed to a tree outside the line. It was an appeal to the colored troops to join the insurgents in the fight for freedom and referred to "Your brothers Sam Hose and Gray, whose blood calls aloud for vengeance."

TWO SOLDIERS KILLED.

One of Them Corporal Keder and Another Winsor S. Stanley—A List of Wounded.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—General Otis cabled the following casualties to the war department:

Manila, Nov. 1, killed—Twenty-second infantry, at San Isidro, Oct. 19, Company K, Corporal Ephraim S. Keder; thirty-sixth infantry, at Lihua, 29th, G. Winsor S. Stanley. Wounded—Twenty-first infantry, at Calamba, 23d, D. Edward G. Hellen, foot, slight; Fourteenth infantry, at Imus, 6th, H. Corporal Henry Overbay, foot, severe; Twenty-second infantry, at San Isidro, 19th, F. Griggin Andrews, forearm, severe; I. Charles H. Pierce, thigh, severe; K. Haddy B. Johnson, leg, severe; Thirty-sixth infantry, at Lihua, 29th, C. Corporal John Swank, arms, slight; James Pitt, back, slight; Hardy L. Lawrence, thigh, slight; Third artillery, K. Thomas H. Dow, shoulder, slight; hospital corps, James Rutledge, thigh, slight; at San Isidro, 19th, Claude B. Day, hand, slight.

PARTITION OF SAMOA BEING NEGOTIATED

United States to Remain, England or Germany to Step Out—Not Fully
Agreed on Terms.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The negotiations for the partition of the Samoan islands are proceeding rapidly and officials here would not be surprised if a final agreement was reached in the near future. The discussion is going on in London, with the co-operation of the authorities here and in Berlin. The determination was reached that not more than two powers, and preferably one, should govern the islands. It soon developed that an agreement was not likely to be reached giving the entire group to one power.

It seemed to be generally accepted by the negotiators that the United States would be one of the two powers to be represented, and that the island of Tutuila, on which the harbor of Pago Pago is located, would naturally fall to the lot of the United States, subject to the approval of the Berlin authorities and the United States senate. It is understood that the British authorities quite fully coincided with this view.

One of the remaining islands, Upolu, is of much value, while the other, Savaii, is practically valueless.

It is suggested that Great Britain cede the Gilbert and Solomon islands to Germany, the latter retiring from Samoa. The Fiji islands and some other points also have been considered during the discussion, but thus far Germany has not acted favorably on the suggestion, and there have been evidences that she preferred to retain her interests and make compensation to Great Britain. This remains open and appears to be the chief point remaining in the way of a final adjustment.

The foregoing general outline was given in quarters well informed on the general lines of the negotiation, although it was with the reservation that the understandings were merely formulative and still open to material change.

Scott for $52,500.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—It is hardly necessary to call attention to the changed conditions, not only in this city, but over the whole nation under the administration of William McKinley and Republican legislative bodies, when prosperity has come to all, or to remind anyone of the effects produced by the Democratic administration, under Mr. Cleveland, when in many places actual want and hardships existed that seemed to many too heavy to bear, and I ask pardon for calling up the recollections of such an unhappy past.

The election in Ohio this fall will be felt throughout the nation. If Ohio should pass over to the party of free silver, free trade and free soup, the enemy of the forces that brought about the blessings we now enjoy will be encouraged to greater efforts in 1900, when, if victorious, they will at once begin their avowed purpose to undo all that has been done by the Republican party.

If a voter believes the Republican party is right on most things, if not all, it is a duty he owes himself, his family and the Nation to use every honorable method to perpetuate that party in power. He can do this by kindly and argumentative talks (not contentious) with friends and neighbors, urging the great responsibility that rests upon him and them to that extent that a full vote may be cast and thus help to hold the party in power that we believe is to our best interests and the Nation's good.

Very truly,

WM. C. WATSON.

JUDGE SCORED JURORS

Jury In Mrs. Clark-Gray's Case Severely Called Down

BY JUDGE P. M. SMITH YESTERDAY

One Juror Made Affidavit That Although He Believed the Woman Innocent and Still Believes It, He Voted to Convict Rather Than Be Kept In the Juryroom.

LISBON, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Judge P. M. Smith sentenced Mrs. Clark-Gray, convicted of bigamy in marrying Forest M. Gray, of Wellsville, while her husband, Clark, was still living, to one year in the penitentiary.

In overruling the motion for a new trial Judge Smith took occasion to give a scathing rebuke to the jurors who, if their affidavits be true, perjured themselves when they took an oath to render a verdict according to the law and the evidence. One juror, Ed Heller, of Lisbon, made affidavit that he believed that unless the jury agreed upon a verdict soon they would be kept together from Friday night until the following Tuesday morning, that he voted for the acquittal of defendant for a number of hours, and believed the accused to be innocent and is still of that belief and would not have voted for conviction had he not feared they would be kept together until Tuesday. Four or five others of the jury made affidavits but afterwards made others leaving the case as it was before.

The court held that, as a rule, no act that any of the jurors might do after the verdict was reached and reported could affect the verdict. He thought that a man who would vote for a verdict of guilty against a woman he believed innocent simply because he feared he might lose a little sleep or be kept away from his business for a few days, to say the least, did not show a high sense of chivalry.

The effect of the forty affidavits, pro and con, left the case in the mind of the judge the same as if none had been filed. The defendant's great point was that she thought the agreed separation between her and her husband was equivalent to a divorce. If that be true it was a mistake of law, not of fact. Courts must enforce the law as they find it. Ignorance of the law could be used in seeking a pardon, but not as a defense in court.

The election in Ohio this fall will be felt throughout the nation. If Ohio should pass over to the party of free silver, free trade and free soup, the enemy of the forces that brought about the blessings we now enjoy will be encouraged to greater efforts in 1900, when, if victorious, they will at once begin their avowed purpose to undo all that has been done by the Republican party.

If a voter believes the Republican party is right on most things, if not all, it is a duty he owes himself, his family and the Nation to use every honorable method to perpetuate that party in power. He can do this by kindly and argumentative talks (not contentious) with friends and neighbors, urging the great responsibility that rests upon him and them to that extent that a full vote may be cast and thus help to hold the party in power that we believe is to our best interests and the Nation's good.

Very truly,

WM. C. WATSON.

JUDGE SCORED JURORS

Jury In Mrs. Clark-Gray's Case
Severely Called Down

BY JUDGE P. M. SMITH YESTERDAY

One Juror Made Affidavit That Although He Believed the Woman Innocent and Still Believes It, He Voted to Convict Rather Than Be Kept In the Juryroom.

LISBON, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Judge P. M. Smith sentenced Mrs. Clark-Gray, convicted of bigamy in marrying Forest M. Gray, of Wellsville, while her husband, Clark, was still living, to one year in the penitentiary.

In overruling the motion for a new trial Judge Smith took occasion to give a scathing rebuke to the jurors who, if their affidavits be true, perjured themselves when they took an oath to render a verdict according to the law and the evidence. One juror, Ed Heller, of Lisbon, made affidavit that he believed that unless the jury agreed upon a verdict soon they would be kept together from Friday night until the following Tuesday morning, that he voted for the acquittal of defendant for a number of hours, and believed the accused to be innocent and is still of that belief and would not have voted for conviction had he not feared they would be kept together until Tuesday. Four or five others of the jury made affidavits but afterwards made others leaving the case as it was before.

The court held that, as a rule, no act that any of the jurors might do after the verdict was reached and reported could affect the verdict. He thought that a man who would vote for a verdict of guilty against a woman he believed innocent simply because he feared he might lose a little sleep or be kept away from his business for a few days, to say the least, did not show a high sense of chivalry.

The effect of the forty affidavits, pro and con, left the case in the mind of the judge the same as if none had been filed. The defendant's great point was that she thought the agreed separation between her and her husband was equivalent to a divorce. If that be true it was a mistake of law, not of fact. Courts must enforce the law as they find it. Ignorance of the law could be used in seeking a pardon, but not as a defense in court.

NEED NEW FIRE ALARMS

An Improvement That Should Be Made at Once.

COCHRAN COMING BACK HOME

An East End Boy Soldiering in Porto Rico Writes an Interesting Letter Home—Fire Bell in Old Volunteer Station Removed to New Building—News of the Suburb.

The residents of East End are desirous of enjoying as many improvements as the people of the city proper, but at present they are anxious to have fire alarm boxes placed about the suburb. As an instance, if a house in Helana should be on fire it would be necessary for some one to go to the fire station before the department would know anything about it. While the East End department has responded to several fires in that locality the firemen, in the majority of cases, have been notified by boys who went to the station. This, the people in the suburb claim, is an injustice, and at least eight boxes should be installed throughout the district at once.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—It is hardly necessary to call attention to the changed conditions, not only in this city, but over the whole nation under the administration of William McKinley and Republican legislative bodies, when prosperity has come to all, or to remind anyone of the effects produced by the Democratic administration, under Mr. Cleveland, when in many places actual want and hardships existed that seemed to many too heavy to bear, and I ask pardon for calling up the recollections of such an unhappy past.

Testimony of a Physi-

There is a great scare in East Liverpool in consequence of a skin disease which has made its appearance, and the statement is made by some that it is what is commonly known as "barber's itch." I have consulted prominent physicians of this city, and they have assured me that the affection is epidemic all over the country, affecting alike men women and children, and is a germ disease. Some physicians assert that it is contagious, while others state that it is not. A pound of prevention is worth many pounds of cure. In order to be on the safe side, I desire to announce that, hereafter, I shall conduct my shop on a strictly antiseptic plan, thoroughly disinfecting razors before and after shaving. Further, I shall discard the use of the sponge altogether, using clean towels in each and every instance, thereby avoiding any possible chance of infection. Respectfully,

The manager of the NEWS REVIEW was at that time business manager of the Labor Tribune, Pittsburg, and was honored in working side by side with Mr. Bishop in the merging of the Sons of Vulcan into an Amalgamated organization of workers. ### TO THE PUBLIC.

Cleanliness Is Akin to Godliness.

Testimony of a Physician.

There is a great scare in East Liverpool in consequence of a skin disease which has made its appearance, and the statement is made by some that it is what is commonly known as "barber's itch." I have consulted prominent physicians of this city, and they have assured me that the affection is epidemic all over the country, affecting alike men, women and children, and is a germ disease. Some physicians assert that it is contagious, while others state that it is not. A pound of prevention is worth many pounds of cure. In order to be on the safe side, I desire to announce that, hereafter, I shall conduct my shop on a strictly antiseptic plan, thoroughly disinfecting razors before and after shaving. Further, I shall discard the use of the sponge altogether, using clean towels in each and every instance, thereby avoiding any possible chance of infection. Respectfully, WELTY will find the defense of McLean a good deal tougher job than defending Mrs. George.

The local Democrats who have been building great expectations on the boodle McLean was to send them now feel as if they had stepped on a step that wasn't there.

THE Democracy has done many fool things but the most foolish of all is claiming they will wipe out the trusts by electing the head of the Washington gas and trolley trusts governor of this state.

McLEAN's men are urging Democrats to vote because "a change of five in each precinct in Ohio will elect the Democratic ticket." Republicans should not give them any part of that five by staying at home.

REPUBLICAN iron workers of Youngstown by hundreds will vote for their friend, Mayor Jones, of Toledo, for governor.—Alliance Leader, Democratic. Now, who can say Jones isn't running to help McLean?

largely attended and apparently less interest is manifested in the contest, the registration of voters in the larger cities is the heaviest in years. This indicates that the minds of the voters are made up and that they will be on hand on election day.

THE GOLDEN RULE.

Let the GOLDEN RULE control in the present labor trouble in East Liverpool. Mutual efforts, in the way of conciliation and good will, will not only result in good in the present difficulty, but will do very much to avoid trouble in the future, and bring an era of good fellowship between manufacturers and workmen.

JONES AND McLEAN.

A vote for Jones means a vote for McLean and Democracy, the downfall of prosperity and a return to hard times. The hope of Democracy is in Jones, as divided Republicanism means united opposition and the success of Democracy. Every true Republican should vote for Judge Nash and the ticket. Every Republican should be at the polls. It is certain that every Democrat will be there. Don't underestimate the power of your opponent.

WATCH OUT!

Watch out for the use of "boodle" from the hands of John R. McLean and his man Friday—one Myers, well known in shady political circles. Reliable information states that filthy lucre will be used without stint where there is promise of reward in the shape of votes for the Democratic ticket. Use every legitimate means to defeat the accomplishment of the purpose desired by the would-be Democratic governor of Ohio. The statement is made that agents well provided with money have been sent into all parts of the state. There is nothing to be feared even from the use of that powerful agency—money—if Republican voters will do their duty, avoid all side-issues, cut Mr. Jones, of Toledo, cold, and vote the straight Republican ticket, Judge Nash and the whole number.

WAS THERE?

Was there ever a time in the history of the party when the Democrats could or did point to the prosperity of the country as their work? Can you recall a single instance, where, in a campaign like this, under a Democratic administration, a Democratic speaker pointed to the prosperity of the country as the result of Democratic policies? Of course not. First, because, if it was under a Democratic administration, the country wasn't prosperous. Second, because, monumental as the lies uttered by Democratic spell binders have been, none ever had the nerve to tell a people suffering poverty and panic from Democratic policies, that they were prosperous. Compare with this the Republican record. Every time the Republicans have been in power, Republican speakers have needed no other issue than to point to the existing plenty and prosperity following Republican policy. And no Democratic denial was possible, for the experience of the people told them that the Republican was telling the truth.

FIRE AT SEBRING.

George Sebring's New Residence Caught Fire From a Defective Flue.

SEBRING, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Sebring came near being visited by a disastrous conflagration yesterday.

The palatial residence of George Sebring, which was nearly finished, caught fire from a defective flue. The watchman at the residence gave the alarm, and in a few minutes the whole town was on the scene. At first it was thought impossible to save the house, as the whole side, the length of the chimney, was on fire, but by heroic work it was soon under control.

Some ludicrous scenes occurred at the Hotel Sebring as the 70 odd guests came rushing out, thinking the house on fire. One man had to be prevented from jumping from the second story.

The building was insured, but the loss will be quite heavy.

WELTY will find the defense of McLean a good deal tougher job than defending Mrs. George.

The local Democrats who have been building great expectations on the boodle McLean was to send them now feel as if they had stepped on a step that wasn't there.

THE Democracy has done many fool things but the most foolish of all is claiming they will wipe out the trusts by electing the head of the Washington gas and trolley trusts governor of this state.

McLEAN's men are urging Democrats to vote because "a change of five in each precinct in Ohio will elect the Democratic ticket." Republicans should not give them any part of that five by staying at home.

REPUBLICAN iron workers of Youngstown by hundreds will vote for their friend, Mayor Jones, of Toledo, for governor.—Alliance Leader, Democratic. Now, who can say Jones isn't running to help McLean?

largely attended and apparently less interest is manifested in the contest, the registration of voters in the larger cities is the heaviest in years. This indicates that the minds of the voters are made up and that they will be on hand on election day.

THE GOLDEN RULE.

Let the GOLDEN RULE control in the present labor trouble in East Liverpool. Mutual efforts, in the way of conciliation and good will, will not only result in good in the present difficulty, but will do very much to avoid trouble in the future, and bring an era of good fellowship between manufacturers and workmen.

JONES AND M'LEAN.

A vote for Jones means a vote for McLean and Democracy, the downfall of prosperity and a return to hard times. The hope of Democracy is in Jones, as divided Republicanism means united opposition and the success of Democracy. Every true Republican should vote for Judge Nash and the ticket. Every Republican should be at the polls. It is certain that every Democrat will be there. Don't underestimate the power of your opponent.

WATCH OUT!

Watch out for the use of "boodle" from the hands of John R. McLean and his man Friday—one Myers, well known in shady political circles. Reliable information states that filthy lucre will be used without stint where there is promise of reward in the shape of votes for the Democratic ticket. Use every legitimate means to defeat the accomplishment of the purpose desired by the would-be Democratic governor of Ohio. The statement is made that agents well provided with money have been sent into all parts of the state. There is nothing to be feared even from the use of that powerful agency—money—if Republican voters will do their duty, avoid all side-issues, cut Mr. Jones, of Toledo, cold, and vote the straight Republican ticket, Judge Nash and the whole number.

WAS THERE?

Was there ever a time in the history of the party when the Democrats could or did point to the prosperity of the country as their work? Can you recall a single instance, where, in a campaign like this, under a Democratic administration, a Democratic speaker pointed to the prosperity of the country as the result of Democratic policies? Of course not. First, because, if it was under a Democratic administration, the country wasn't prosperous. Second, because, monumental as the lies uttered by Democratic spell binders have been, none ever had the nerve to tell a people suffering poverty and panic from Democratic policies, that they were prosperous. Compare with this the Republican record. Every time the Republicans have been in power, Republican speakers have needed no other issue than to point to the existing plenty and prosperity following Republican policy. And no Democratic denial was possible, for the experience of the people told them that the Republican was telling the truth.

FIRE AT SEBRING.

George Sebring's New Residence
Caught Fire From a Defective Flue.

SEBRING, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Sebring came near being visited by a disastrous conflagration yesterday.

The palatial residence of George Sebring, which was nearly finished, caught fire from a defective flue. The watchman at the residence gave the alarm, and in a few minutes the whole town was on the scene. At first it was thought impossible to save the house, as the whole side, the length of the chimney, was on fire, but by heroic work it was soon under control.

Some ludicrous scenes occurred at the Hotel Sebring as the 70 odd guests came rushing out, thinking the house on fire. One man had to be prevented from jumping from the second story.

The building was insured, but the loss will be quite heavy.

THE WELLS FARM

TO CONFER TOMORROW

Manufacturers Appoint a Committee Last Night.

STRIKERS TAKE THE SAME ACTION

This Afternoon and a Conference Will be Held Tomorrow Morning at 9 O'Clock. Secretary Bishop, of State Board of Arbitration, Arrived Yesterday.

The outlook is very favorable for an amicable adjustment of the strike but the matter depends largely upon the action taken at the joint meeting of the manufacturers' and strikers' committees.

Secretary Joseph Bishop, of the State Board of Arbitration, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon from Akron and went at once to the Mayor's office where he was met by District Organizer John G. Powell and three members of the local union, Mrs. Hayes, president, Miss Isabella Gallagher, secretary and Mrs. Sadie Hayes. They had a long conference and Secretary Bishop spent the time in trying to get an exact status of the case. A telephone message was sent to the Cartwright pottery and William Cartwright, president of the potters' club, and John T. Cartwright, a member of the firm, responded. They remained in session until after 6 o'clock discussing the matter and then the strikers' committee left, but not until Secretary Bishop had arranged for a meeting of their union this afternoon. He remained in conference with the manufacturers until 7 o'clock but did nothing except to learn their side of the case, and arrange for a meeting of the manufacturers.

THIS MORNING

A Conference Was Held With the President and Officers of the Brotherhood.

This morning Secretary Bishop called at the headquarters of the Brotherhood and held a conference with President Hughes and several of the officers of the Brotherhood. The situation was thoroughly discussed by the gentlemen. Should Secretary Bishop fail to adjust the strike he will send for Selwyn N. Owen and John Little, the other members of the arbitration board, and they will come to the city.

THE STRIKERS

Meet This Afternoon and Will Appoint a Committee.

The strikers met this afternoon and Secretary Bishop talked to them for one hour and 30 minutes. He advised them to arrange a speedy settlement of the strike and wanted them to appoint a committee to meet the manufacturers at 4 o'clock. This the strikers were not prepared to do, but will appoint representatives to meet the manufacturers tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

LAST NIGHT

Secretary Bishop Held a Meeting With the Manufacturers.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Potters' club and Secretary Bishop made an address to them urging upon them a speedy and amicable adjustment of the strike if such a thing were possible. He outlined the duties of the State Board of Arbitration in the matter and suggested a plan by which the strike might be settled.

After Mr. Bishop had retired the manufacturers appointed the following committee to represent them at the meeting: W. E. Wells, Laughlin China company; H. N. Harker, Harker Pottery company; J. G. Lee, Knowles, Taylor & Knowles; G. C. Thompson, Thompson Pottery company; John Vodrey, Vodrey Pottery company. The manufacturers did not agree on a basis of settlement, but left the matter in the hands of the committee, with full power to act.

TO CONFER TOMORROW

Manufacturers Appoint a Committee Last Night.

STRIKERS TAKE THE SAME ACTION

This Afternoon and a Conference Will be Held Tomorrow Morning at 9 O'Clock. Secretary Bishop, of State Board of Arbitration, Arrived Yesterday.

The outlook is very favorable for an amicable adjustment of the strike but the matter depends largely upon the action taken at the joint meeting of the manufacturers' and strikers' committees.

Secretary Joseph Bishop, of the State Board of Arbitration, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon from Akron and went at once to the Mayor's office where he was met by District Organizer John G. Powell and three members of the local union, Mrs. Hayes, president, Miss Isabella Gallagher, secretary and Mrs. Sadie Hayes. They had a long conference and Secretary Bishop spent the time in trying to get an exact status of the case. A telephone message was sent to the Cartwright pottery and William Cartwright, president of the potters' club, and John T. Cartwright, a member of the firm, responded. They remained in session until after 6 o'clock discussing the matter and then the strikers' committee left, but not until Secretary Bishop had arranged for a meeting of their union this afternoon. He remained in conference with the manufacturers until 7 o'clock but did nothing except to learn their side of the case, and arrange for a meeting of the manufacturers.

THIS MORNING

A Conference Was Held With the President and Officers of the Brotherhood.

This morning Secretary Bishop called at the headquarters of the Brotherhood and held a conference with President Hughes and several of the officers of the Brotherhood. The situation was thoroughly discussed by the gentlemen.

Should Secretary Bishop fail to adjust the strike he will send for Selwyn N. Owen and John Little, the other members of the arbitration board, and they will come to the city.

THE STRIKERS

Meet This Afternoon and Will Appoint a Committee.

The strikers met this afternoon and Secretary Bishop talked to them for one hour and 30 minutes. He advised them to arrange a speedy settlement of the strike and wanted them to appoint a committee to meet the manufacturers at 4 o'clock. This the strikers were not prepared to do, but will appoint representatives to meet the manufacturers tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

LAST NIGHT

Secretary Bishop Held a Meeting With the Manufacturers.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Potters' club and Secretary Bishop made an address to them urging upon them a speedy and amicable adjustment of the strike if such a thing were possible. He outlined the duties of the State Board of Arbitration in the matter and suggested a plan by which the strike might be settled.

After Mr. Bishop had retired the manufacturers appointed the following committee to represent them at the meeting: W. E. Wells, Laughlin China company; H. N. Harker, Harker Pottery company; J. G. Lee, Knowles, Taylor & Knowles; G. C. Thompson, Thompson Pottery company; John Vodrey, Vodrey Pottery company. The manufacturers did not agree on a basis of settlement, but left the matter in the hands of the committee, with full power to act.

Some Interesting Facts About Toledo's Mayor.

HIS REVOLT AGAINST PARTY.

Refused to Accept the Rule of the Majority and as Mayor Violated the Pledges He Had Made Before the Election at Toledo.

In undertaking, by concerted, persistent means, to control the ballots of his fellow citizens in promotion of his personal ambition, a man fully challenges closest investigation as to both his motive and his record. Hence, it is clearly due to the voters of Ohio, that they have more adequate understanding than they now have as to the claim of Mayor S. M. Jones of Toledo for their support for governor at the coming election. Several points in that connection arise, two only of which will now be considered.

Jones as a Political Manager.

First—When but six years a resident of Ohio, Mr. Jones, as a Republican (though credibly reported as never having voted a ticket of that party), by personal effort secured his nomination as mayor of Toledo, in 1897, at the hands of the Republican party, and was elected accordingly. In promotion of renomination for that office in 1899, he, by personal effort, secured a seat as delegate in the Republican convention, still claiming active membership of that party, with unqualified approval of its policy and management. Having serious doubt, however, as to success, with his associate delegates free for exercise of their will, he provided a gang of more than 100 lawless men, who, under lead of a chosen employee of his, early ranged about the building in which the convention was to meet, and when that body had assembled, such appointed mob demanded admission, which being refused, threatened the life of the colored doorkeeper. The intruders then proceeded by main force to burst the door of the room from its hinges and rush in, filling the room, to the serious annoyance of the convention, while throughout its session their yelling, stamping, clapping of hands, and "Hurrahs for Jones!" were directed for insult and menace of every speaker not recognized as supporting the mayor's nomination; even the presiding officer being many times interrupted by insulting clamor, such shameful proceedings involving loss of not less than an hour of time; no interruption, meantime, attending the action of the supporters of the mayor. Such unlawful demonstration by the mayor's mob was, throughout, not only in his presence and with his full knowledge, but with his manifest approval, since otherwise it would not have occurred. The spacious gallery, reserved specially for spectators, meantime was packed, chiefly by such of the mayor's crowd as could not find standing space in the convention room.

Upon formal call of this convention for candidates for its nomination to pledge themselves in good faith to abide the result and support the candidates to be nominated, Mayor Jones absolutely refused to do so, with avowed purpose, if not nominated, of being a candidate against the convention's nominee, which purpose was openly declared on the outcome of balloting for that office. The result was his defeat for renomination, followed by his personal candidacy against the Republican nominee.

Immediately following the city election in April, 1899, Mayor Jones announced himself as a candidate for Republican nomination for governor, and to that end sought election as delegate to the Republican state convention, providing for the primary election a "Jones Ticket," specially emphasized in purpose by his own portrait, a scheme believed to be without precedent in Ohio. Despite his utmost effort, however, he was beaten by 1,066 majority. But his persistent effort for Republican nomination for governor was by no means abated, it being publicly announced that a delegation of "10,000 of the people" would be taken to Columbus by express trains from Toledo alone, for demand for his nomination; while 75,000 to 100,000 of "Jones portraits" would be provided for lapels of coats from all parts of the state. The result of the attempt to intimidate a state convention into nominating Jones was overwhelming defeat, though his name was persistently pressed for nomination, he having rented rooms there for that sole purpose. At the last moment he found the Republican party could not be intimidated, and his name did not go before the convention.

Failing with the Republicans, Mr. Jones at once appealed to the Democratic state convention for place on its ticket, where he met very little recognition.

Rejected by these parties, his next application for party nomination was to the Labor Union state convention; he there receiving about one in twenty of the votes cast for governor.

Thus repudiated by all, he proceeded with the "nonpartisan" campaign now in progress, denouncing all political organizations as "corrupt" and "evil only," assuming that no party refusing to promote his personal ambition can be fit to exist.

And yet, Mayor Jones has already organized a more absolutely tyrannical party than before known in Ohio, which he is manipulating solely in his personal behalf. It is mainly in promotion of such organization that he is now traversing the state, county by county, a chief aim being such demoralization of local candidates on all tickets, by promise of support of his friends, as may secure votes for him. To what extent this is to meet success remains to be seen. It would seem that the same might properly receive attention from the parties concerned.

Comment on such showing can not be called for. The facts presented should be sufficiently suggestive with intelligent voters of all parties. Why he is not now the nominee of a political party is very plain. The one question remains, whether the gratification of his personal ambition shall command the attention demanded by him.

Jones on Enforcement of Law.

Second—Mr. Jones' advent as candidate for mayor in 1897 was almost wholly marked by his open, unqualified hostility to crime and immorality, the more especial objects of his antagonism being liquor saloons, gambling and houses of prostitution. His position in such respects was indicated in his telegram to Rev. Washington Gladden, after the election, wherein he said: "I am elected mayor, in spite of the devil and 600 saloons." Up to that time no other man elected to office in Toledo has been as pronounced in that connection.

It is noticeable here that very soon after that election Mayor Jones wholly lost the vigor as to "saloons," made so prominent when a candidate. The enforcement of the laws was virtually abandoned by him and practical license permitted them. The result was that when a candidate for re-election last spring, he had no more active or effective supporters than the saloonkeepers. As indicating something of the condition in this respect, it may be stated that no other class were as liberal in financial support (as reported by him under the law), four breweries contributing thereto, the president of one of these supplying $1,500 for meeting a deficit of $2,426.29, in a total expenditure of $4,491.29, which included $443.60 (10 per cent), for 25,300 of his portraits for free distribution and street use.

The mayor bases his radical change of official action as to "saloons" on two grounds. Mainly, that "public sentiment" did not promise desired support of him in enforcing the laws, he holding that "no matter what law is on the books," the "only law to be enforced is the law that such sentiment will uphold."

Further explanation of the remarkable change in the mayor's relations to "the devil and the 600 saloons," can hardly be necessary. And yet, in a published letter of Sept. 18, 1899, he presents the case in another view, even more surprising and sweeping. He there says: "I can not find it in my heart to reject the belief that the same force—the same power—that took Jesus to Calvary—the power that redeemed and will yet save the world—is the only agency upon which we can count anything whatever to aid in bringing about a righteous social order, in establishing the kingdom of heaven upon earth." In the same letter the mayor said: "It seems to me that nothing could be more ridiculous than to imagine that Jesus, who taught and lived and died for the philosophy of love, of non-resistance, of overcoming evil with good, would send a policeman after a saloonkeeper, or after any other wrong-doer."

Government to Be Abolished.

As at once seen, this unqualified declaration of immunity for "wrong-doers" of every possible class, would utterly dispose of government of every sort—human and divine. That a candidate for so important an executive office as that of governor of Ohio should thus formally avow such sentiment before the people whose votes he seeks, involves a question of mental condition by no means pleasant to consider. It certainly is due to such voters that they be advised of the extraordinary case thus presented to them. It becomes proper here to recognize the fact that in his official action Mayor Jones has sedulously refused to take action against lawlessness of whatever sort—from the first declaring the "Golden Rule" as his guide, regardless of "the laws on the books," of so little consideration with him. In a word, he construes the golden rule to mean that he must not enforce the law, even if men commit crime.

It remains to be known to what extent Mayor Jones may be able, by the extraordinary agencies employed by him, to secure support for the executive head of government in Ohio. Such voters as, with him, believe that mere sentiment should be wholly substituted for government, may be expected to indicate such view by voting for the man who declares that to be his one sole platform as candidate, while voters not yet ready for absolute abandonment of government, in whatever form, may be expected to vote for a candidate pledged to enforce "the laws" as he finds them.

This practical question arises: Under the policy so unequivocally declared by Mayor Jones, as now controlling him, what possible service could he perform as governor of Ohio? In fact, what use can there be for governor or other civil officer in this state if his theories are true?

SHOULD INCREASE OFFICERS' PAY

Corbin's Recommendation as to Those in New Possessions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The annual report of the adjutant general of the army, Brigadier General Corbin, to the secretary of war, was made public.

General Corbin sums up the military forces now in the service of the United States as: Regular army, 64,586; volunteers, 34,574; total, 99,160.

The report called attention to the fact that not a single life has been lost by accident incident to travel in the course of all the transportation to the Philippines.

General Corbin points out an omission of the law in failing to provide chaplains for the volunteer regiments, and recommends that chaplains be provided for a son as possible, as the presence of one with each regiment is deemed very necessary.

He recommended that each officer of the several volunteer organizations and each enlisted man who continued in service in the Philippine islands after March 2, 1899, until honorably discharged, be awarded a suitably inscribed medal.

He also recommended that the pay of all officers below the grade of brigadier general should be increased at least 33 1/3 per cent while on duty in Cuba or our new possessions, as most of them have families that they are unable to have with them, and are therefore compelled to maintain two establishments.

He defends the present staff system.

Close Escape of a Car.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 2.—A Willson avenue street car, carrying 40 passengers, jumped the track as it ran onto the Willson avenue bridge. The car crashed into the side railing and tore it away. The front trucks went over the side of the structure, after which the car stopped, overhanging the gully 75 feet below. A panic among the passengers followed. Women fainted and men fought their way to the doors. Had the car moved another foot or two it would have undoubtedly gone over.

Captain Slocum Alone to Go.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The British government was obliged to refuse permission for the United States to send four officers to watch the Transvaal war, on account of the precedent which only permits one representative from each recognized power. Captain Stephen L'Hon-medieu Slocum, the United States military attaché at London, was selected.

"I was suffering with what the doctor called chronic indigestion, torpid liver and vertigo," says Mrs. Martha E. Barham, of Newville, Prince George Co., Va. "My symptoms were giddiness in the head, pains in my chest and an uneasy feeling all over."

I also had female weakness. I was all run down, and could not do any work without suffering from nervous attacks, so I wrote to you. You advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription.' I used five bottles of each. I gained in health and strength. When I commenced to use the medicines I weighed only 112 pounds, now I weigh 140. My husband and friends all thought that I would die, but to-day I am a well woman."

Mrs. Barham's experience is not singular. Thousands have given similarly strong and convincing testimony. There are no other medicines in the world that have such a long and continuous record of cures.

There are no other medicines "just as good" or "just the same" as Doctor Pierce's. Like all valuable things these medicines are sometimes imitated. Don't be imposed upon. See that you get what you ask for.

If you have any doubt as to the nature of your ailment write fully, giving your symptoms, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. He will consider your case carefully, and will tell you, absolutely free of charge, what to do to get well.

JONES' RECORD

Some Interesting Facts About Toledo's Mayor.

HIS REVOLT AGAINST PARTY.

Refused to Accept the Rule of the Majority and as Mayor Violated the Pledges He Had Made Before the Election at Toledo.

In undertaking, by concerted, persistent means, to control the ballots of his fellow citizens in promotion of his personal ambition, a man fully challenges closest investigation as to both his motive and his record. Hence, it is clearly due to the voters of Ohio, that they have more adequate understanding than they now have as to the claim of Mayor S. M. Jones of Toledo for their support for governor at the coming election. Several points in that connection arise, two only of which will now be considered.

Jones as a Political Manager.

First—When but six years a resident of Ohio, Mr. Jones, as a Republican (though credibly reported as never having voted a ticket of that party), by personal effort secured his nomination as mayor of Toledo, in 1897, at the hands of the Republican party, and was elected accordingly. In promotion of renomination for that office in 1899, he, by personal effort, secured a seat as delegate in the Republican convention, still claiming active membership of that party, with unqualified approval of its policy and management. Having serious doubt, however, as to success, with his associate delegates free for exercise of their will, he provided a gang of more than 100 lawless men, who, under lead of a chosen employee of his, early ranged about the building in which the convention was to meet, and when that body had assembled, such appointed mob demanded admission, which being refused, threatened the life of the colored doorkeeper. The intruders then proceeded by main force to burst the door of the room from its hinges and rush in, filling the room, to the serious annoyance of the convention, while throughout its session their yelling, stamping, clapping of hands, and "Hurrahs for Jones!" were directed for insult and menace of every speaker not recognized as supporting the mayor's nomination; even the presiding officer being many times interrupted by insulting clamor, such shameful proceedings involving loss of not less than an hour of time; no interruption, meantime, attending the action of the supporters of the mayor. Such unlawful demonstration by the mayor's mob was, throughout, not only in his presence and with his full knowledge, but with his manifest approval, since otherwise it would not have occurred. The spacious gallery, reserved specially for spectators, meantime was packed, chiefly by such of the mayor's crowd as could not find standing space in the convention room.

Upon formal call of this convention for candidates for its nomination to pledge themselves in good faith to abide the result and support the candidates to be nominated, Mayor Jones absolutely refused to do so, with avowed purpose, if not nominated, of being a candidate against the convention's nominee, which purpose was openly declared on the outcome of balloting for that office. The result was his defeat for renomination, followed by his personal candidacy against the Republican nominee.

Immediately following the city election in April, 1899, Mayor Jones announced himself as a candidate for Republican nomination for governor, and to that end sought election as delegate to the Republican state convention, providing for the primary election a "Jones Ticket," specially emphasized in purpose by his own portrait, a scheme believed to be without precedent in Ohio. Despite his utmost effort, however, he was beaten by 1,065 majority. But his persistent effort for Republican nomination for governor was by no means abated, it being publicly announced that a delegation of "10,000 of the people" would be taken to Columbus by express trains from Toledo alone, for demand for his nomination; while 75,000 to 100,000 of "Jones portraits" would be provided for lapels of coats from all parts of the state. The result of the attempt to intimidate a state convention into nominating Jones was overwhelming defeat, though his name was persistently pressed for nomination, he having rented rooms there for that sole purpose. At the last moment he found the Republican party could not be intimidated, and his name did not go before the convention.

Failing with the Republicans, Mr. Jones at once appealed to the Democratic state convention for place on its ticket, where he met very little recognition.

Rejected by these parties, his next application for party nomination was to the Labor Union state convention; he there receiving about one in twenty of the votes cast for governor.

Thus repudiated by all, he proceeded with the "nonpartisan" campaign now in progress, denouncing all political organizations as "corrupt" and "evil only," assuming that no party refusing to promote his personal ambition can be fit to exist.

And yet, Mayor Jones has already organized a more absolutely tyrannical party than before known in Ohio, which he is manipulating solely in his personal behalf. It is mainly in promotion of such organization that he is now traversing the state, county by county, a chief aim being such demoralization of local candidates on all tickets, by promise of support of his friends, as may secure votes for him. To what extent this is to meet success remains to be seen. It would seem that the same might properly receive attention from the parties concerned. Comment on such showing can not be called for. The facts presented should be sufficiently suggestive with intelligent voters of all parties. Why he is not now the nominee of a political party is very plain. The one question remains, whether the gratification of his personal ambition shall command the attention demanded by him.

Jones on Enforcement of Law.

Second—Mr. Jones' advent as candidate for mayor in 1897 was almost wholly marked by his open, unqualified hostility to crime and immorality, the more especial objects of his antagonism being liquor saloons, gambling and houses of prostitution. His position in such respects was indicated in his telegram to Rev. Washington Gladden, after the election, wherein he said: "I am elected mayor, in spite of the devil and 600 saloons." Up to that time no other man elected to office in Toledo has been as pronounced in that connection.

It is noticeable here that very soon after that election Mayor Jones wholly lost the vigor as to "saloons," made so prominent when a candidate. The enforcement of the laws was virtually abandoned by him and practical license permitted them. The result was that when a candidate for re-election last spring, he had no more active or effective supporters than the saloonkeepers. As indicating something of the condition in this respect, it may be stated that no other class were as liberal in financial support (as reported by him under the law), four breweries contributing thereto, the president of one of these supplying $1,500 for meeting a deficit of $2,426.29, in a total expenditure of $4,491.29, which included $443.60 (10 per cent), for 25,300 of his portraits for free distribution and street use.

The mayor bases his radical change of official action as to "saloons" on two grounds. Mainly, that "public sentiment" did not promise desired support of him in enforcing the laws, he holding that "no matter what law is on the books," the "only law to be enforced is the law that such sentiment will uphold."

Further explanation of the remarkable change in the mayor's relations to "the devil and the 600 saloons," can hardly be necessary. And yet, in a published letter of Sept. 18, 1899, he presents the case in another view, even more surprising and sweeping. He there says: "I can not find it in my heart to reject the belief that the same force—the same power—that took Jesus to Calvary—the power that redeemed and will yet save the world—is the only agency upon which we can count anything whatever to aid in bringing about a righteous social order, in establishing the kingdom of heaven upon earth." In the same letter the mayor said: "It seems to me that nothing could be more ridiculous than to imagine that Jesus, who taught and lived and died for the philosophy of love, of non-resistance, of overcoming evil with good, would send a policeman after a saloonkeeper, or after any other wrong-doer."

Government to Be Abolished.

As at once seen, this unqualified declaration of immunity for "wrong-doers" of every possible class, would utterly dispose of government of every sort—human and divine. That a candidate for so important an executive office as that of governor of Ohio should thus formally avow such sentiment before the people whose votes he seeks, involves a question of mental condition by no means pleasant to consider. It certainly is due to such voters that they be advised of the extraordinary case thus presented to them. It becomes proper here to recognize the fact that in his official action Mayor Jones has sedulously refused to take action against lawlessness of whatever sort—from the first declaring the "Golden Rule" as his guide, regardless of "the laws on the books," of so little consideration with him. In a word, he construes the golden rule to mean that he must not enforce the law, even if men commit crime.

It remains to be known to what extent Mayor Jones may be able, by the extraordinary agencies employed by him, to secure support for the executive head of government in Ohio. Such voters as, with him, believe that mere sentiment should be wholly substituted for government, may be expected to indicate such view by voting for the man who declares that to be his one sole platform as candidate, while voters not yet ready for absolute abandonment of government, in whatever form, may be expected to vote for a candidate pledged to enforce "the laws" as he finds them.

This practical question arises: Under the policy so unequivocally declared by Mayor Jones, as now controlling him, what possible service could he perform as governor of Ohio? In fact, what use can there be for governor or other civil officer in this state if his theories are true?

SHOULD INCREASE OFFICERS' PAY

Corbin's Recommendation as to Those in New Possessions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The annual report of the adjutant general of the army, Brigadier General Corbin, to the secretary of war, was made public.

General Corbin sums up the military forces now in the service of the United States as: Regular army, 64,586; volunteers, 34,574; total, 99,160.

The report called attention to the fact that not a single life has been lost by accident incident to travel in the course of all the transportation to the Philippines.

General Corbin points out an omission of the law in failing to provide chaplains for the volunteer regiments, and recommends that chaplains be provided for as soon as possible, as the presence of one with each regiment is deemed very necessary.

He recommended that each officer of the several volunteer organizations and each enlisted man who continued in service in the Philippine islands after March 2, 1899, until honorably discharged, be awarded a suitably inscribed medal.

He also recommended that the pay of all officers below the grade of brigadier general should be increased at least 33 1/3 per cent while on duty in Cuba or our new possessions, as most of them have families that they are unable to have with them, and are therefore compelled to maintain two establishments.

He defends the present staff system.

Close Escape of a Car.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 2.—A Willson avenue street car, carrying 40 passengers, jumped the track as it ran onto the Willson avenue bridge. The car crashed into the side railing and tore it away. The front trucks went over the side of the structure, after which the car stopped, overhanging the gully 75 feet below. A panic among the passengers followed. Women fainted and men fought their way to the doors. Had the car moved another foot or two it would have undoubtedly gone over.

Captain Slocum Alone to Go.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The British government was obliged to refuse permission for the United States to send four officers to watch the Transvaal war, on account of the precedent which only permits one representative from each recognized power. Captain Stephen L'Honn-medieu Slocum, the United States military attaché at London, was selected.

"I was suffering with what the doctor called chronic indigestion, torpid liver and vertigo," says Mrs. Martha E. Barham, of Newville, Prince George Co., Va. "My symptoms were giddiness in the head, pains in my chest and an uneasy feeling all over."

I also had female weakness. I was all run down, and could not do any work without suffering from nervous attacks, so I wrote to you. You advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and "Favorite Prescription." I used five bottles of each. I gained in health and strength. When I commenced to use the medicines I weighed only 112 pounds, now I weigh 140. My husband and friends all thought that I would die, but to-day I am a well woman.

Mrs. Barham's experience is not singular. Thousands have given similarly strong and convincing testimony. There are no other medicines in the world that have such a long and continuous record of cures.

There are no other medicines "just as good" or "just the same" as Doctor Pierce's. Like all valuable things these medicines are sometimes imitated. Don't be imposed upon. See that you get what you ask for.

If you have any doubt as to the nature of your ailment write fully, giving your symptoms, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. He will consider your case carefully, and will tell you, absolutely free of charge, what to do to get well.

He also recommended that the pay of all officers below the grade of brigadier general should be increased at least 33 1/3 per cent while on duty in Cuba or our new possessions, as most of them have families that they are unable to have with them, and are therefore compelled to maintain two establishments.

He defends the present staff system.

Close Escape of a Car.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 2.—A Willson avenue street car, carrying 40 passengers, jumped the track as it ran onto the Willson avenue bridge. The car crashed into the side railing and tore it away. The front trucks went over the side of the structure, after which the car stopped, overhanging the gully 75 feet below. A panic among the passengers followed. Women fainted and men fought their way to the doors. Had the car moved another foot or two it would have undoubtedly gone over.

Captain Slocum Alone to Go.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The British government was obliged to refuse permission for the United States to send four officers to watch the Transvaal war, on account of the precedent which only permits one representative from each recognized power. Captain Stephen L'Hon-medieu Slocum, the United States military attaché at London, was selected.

"I was suffering with what the doctor called chronic indigestion, torpid liver and vertigo," says Mrs. Martha E. Barham, of Newville, Prince George Co., Va. "My symptoms were giddiness in the head, pains in my chest and an uneasy feeling all over."

I also had female weakness. I was all run down, and could not do any work without suffering from nervous attacks, so I wrote to you. You advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription. I used five bottles of each. I gained in health and strength. When I commenced to use the medicines I weighed only 112 pounds, now I weigh 140. My husband and friends all thought that I would die, but to-day I am a well woman."

Mrs. Barham's experience is not singular. Thousands have given similarly strong and convincing testimony. There are no other medicines in the world that have such a long and continuous record of cures.

There are no other medicines "just as good" or "just the same" as Doctor Pierce's. Like all valuable things these medicines are sometimes imitated. Don't be imposed upon. See that you get what you ask for.

If you have any doubt as to the nature of your ailment write fully, giving your symptoms, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. He will consider your case carefully, and will tell you, absolutely free of charge, what to do to get well.

NOT TRUE.

Another Democratic Fake Is Effectually Exploded.

ALLEGED STRANDED SOLDIERS.

Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn Gives a Clear Statement of the Law and the Facts Regarding Discharged Soldiers.

A special Washington dispatch to the N. Y. Tribune says: A vigorous by Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn of the campaign yarn about Ohio soldiers being stranded in the Philippines through the heartlessness of army officers, and the effects of snapshot regulations unwarranted by law, which practically drafted men into the troops under General Otis. Mr. Meiklejohn's "That whenever any officer or soldier shall be discharged from the attention was called to this report, which, as circulated in certain quarters, alleged that soldiers whose terms of service had expired at Manila and who would not re-enlist were left on their own resources, and he was asked what truth there was in it. Mr. Meiklejohn replied.

"None whatever. The statement is not only untrue, but it is infamous to circulate a report that reflects, as this one does, on the humanity of the government and the administration, even for campaign purposes. Why should the government seek to coerce men to re-enlist when, as has been demonstrated within the last 90 days, it can get all the men it needs for service in the Philippines. The returns show that up to Oct. 17, 33,091 had been enlisted for service in the Philippines, and, approximately speaking, 75,000 men rejected. No government has ever treated the private soldier with as much deference or has been as solicitous for his personal welfare as is the government of the United States. There is a reason for this. Our army is recruited from the farm, the workshop, the counting room and the merchant's counter. The American soldier is a representative American citizen, who serves his country when his country calls, because he is a patriot. And I take this occasion to pay a tribute to his patriotism, courage, zeal and devotion to duty.

"Now, as to soldiers being left on their own resources. The law is very clear, explicit and imperative on this point. Section 15, Act of Jan. 29, 1813 (2 Statute 796) provides:

"That whenever any officer or soldier shall be discharged from the service, except by way of punishment for an offense, he shall be allowed his pay and rations or an equivalent in money, for such term of time as shall be sufficient for him to travel from the place of discharge to the place of his residence computing at the rate of 20 miles to a day."

"The second controller, in a decision dated July 7, 1863, said:

"A soldier honorably discharged has a right under the law to an immediate payment of his pay and rations, or an equivalent in money, for such term of time as shall be sufficient for him to travel from the place of discharge to the place of his residence, computing at the rate of 20 miles to a day. It is part of his contract of enlistment, and must be paid; nor is he under any obligation to perform the travel if he shall choose to re-enlist or to stay where he may be when discharged. The government has fulfilled its obligations when it has paid him, and the soldier is not responsible to the government for the use he may make of his money.

General Orders No. 54, by direction of the secretary of war, dated March 22, 1899, are as follows:

"Officers and soldiers discharged under this order will be entitled to travel allowances for the land travel involved from the place of their discharge to the place of their enlistment. For the sea travel the specific orders issued by the commanding generals of the departments for the discharge of officers will state in each case that the officer is entitled to free transportation, and in cases of enlisted men to free transportation and subsistence on any United States warship within one year from the date of the discharge. When transportation or subsistence is furnished on such orders, the fact will be noted thereon, and also on the discharge certificate by the quartermaster."

"Paragraph 5 of General Orders No. 36, issued May 19, 1899, by direction of the secretary of war, reads as follows:

"An enlisted man, a resident of the United States, serving in the islands mentioned in paragraph 4 hereof, who is discharged from the service in those islands by transfer to another branch of the service, or on his own application, whether by way of favor or purchase, or because of confinement by the civil authorities, or by way of punishment for an offense or for disability caused by his own misconduct, or on account of fraudulent enlistment, is by the operation of section 1,290, Revised statutes, and the act of March 16, 1896, (29 Stat. Large, 63), prevented from being allowed the usual traveling allowances to the place of his enlistment enrollment or original muster into the service, but he will be brought by the United States on a franchise free of charge."

So much for the charge that discharged soldiers have been abandoned by their government seven thousand miles from home to their own resources. Such a thing could not happen, never has happened and never will happen.

THE VICE PRESIDENT

BRIGHT AND CHEERFUL

Seemed a Little Weaker, but His Vitality Stood Him in Good Stead—Message to McKinley.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 2.—Vice President Garret A. Hobart's wonderful vitality stood him in good stead and, notwithstanding he took little nourishment, he was unusually bright and asked Mrs. Hobart to read him the newspapers. He wants to keep up with current affairs, and when he awakens from a sleep he generally asks those near him if anything is new. He showed signs of weakening. An occasional spoonful of brandy and milk and a little grape juice were given to him.

All day long crowds of people gathered in front of the newspaper offices where the bulletins were posted. There was another gathering of sympathizing friends about Carroll Hall, but none except relatives were allowed to see the patient. Dr. W. K. Newton spends most of his time in the Hobart house, and he is now the only physician in attendance. Eminent specialists are directing the treatment through Dr. Newton.

Telegrams and messages of sympathy have been received, as well as flowers, from all parts of the country.

Mrs. Hobart last night sent the following telegram to President McKinley: "Mr. Hobart passed restful day and evening. He sends love to you and Mrs. McKinley, in which I join."

"JENNIE T. HOBART."

OFFICIAL LETTERS TO HAWAII.

Damon's Mission to Italy Disapproved by the Government.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—The steamer China brought news from Honolulu under date of Oct. 24.

Special Agent Harold M. Sewall handed to the Hawaiian government three official letters from Washington.

The first referred to the claims of British and other residents for damages for imprisonment during the rebellion of 1895. Enclosed with the communication is the opinion of Attorney General Griggs. The merit of the claims is acknowledged. It is recommended that the local government make settlement of some sort.

The second letter is in relation to Minister Damon's trip to Italy to secure laborers for the plantations. This came directly from the secretary of state to Special Agent Sewall. It was understood that the United States government disapproved of the mission of Mr. Damon.

The third letter was in relation to the title of the minister of foreign affairs. The Washington government ruled that the point was well taken and that the office may continue under its old title.

DEWEY TO VISIT PITTSBURG.

Said He Would Spend at Least a Day There.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 2.—It is an absolute certainty that Admiral George Dewey, the great naval hero, will spend at least a day in Pittsburg soon while enroute to Chicago.

The Pittsburg committee called upon Admiral Dewey yesterday. He gave them this answer.

Lima Oil Advanced.

LIMA, O., Nov. 2.—The price of Lima crude oil advanced 2 cents a barrel, while eastern oil went up 3 cents.

OFFICIAL LETTERS TO HAWAII.

Damon's Mission to Italy Disapproved by the Government.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—The steamer China brought news from Honolulu under date of Oct. 24.

Special Agent Harold M. Sewall handed to the Hawaiian government three official letters from Washington.

The first referred to the claims of British and other residents for damages for imprisonment during the rebellion of 1895. Enclosed with the communication is the opinion of Attorney General Griggs. The merit of the claims is acknowledged. It is recommended that the local government make settlement of some sort.

The second letter is in relation to Minister Damon's trip to Italy to secure laborers for the plantations. This came directly from the secretary of state to Special Agent Sewall. It was understood that the United States government disapproved of the mission of Mr. Damon.

The third letter was in relation to the title of the minister of foreign affairs. The Washington government ruled that the point was well taken and that the office may continue under its old title.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. ## NOT TRUE.

Another Democratic Fake Is Effectually Exploded.

ALLEGED STRANDED SOLDIERS.

Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn Gives a Clear Statement of the Law and the Facts Regarding Discharged Soldiers.

A special Washington dispatch to the N. Y. Tribune says: A vigorous by Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn of the campaign yarn about Ohio soldiers being stranded in the Philippines through the heartlessness of army officers, and the effects of snapshot regulations unwarranted by law, which practically drafted men into the troops under General Otis. Mr. Meiklejohn's "That whenever any officer or soldier shall be discharged from the attention was called to this report, which, as circulated in certain quarters, alleged that soldiers whose terms of service had expired at Manila and who would not re-enlist were left on their own resources, and he was asked what truth there was in it. Mr. Meiklejohn replied.

"None whatever. The statement is not only untrue, but it is infamous to circulate a report that reflects, as this one does, on the humanity of the government and the administration, even for campaign purposes. Why should the government seek to coerce men to re-enlist when, as has been demonstrated within the last 90 days, it can get all the men it needs for service in the Philippines. The returns show that up to Oct. 17, 33,091 had been enlisted for service in the Philippines and, approximately speaking, 75,000 men rejected. No government has ever treated the private soldier with as much deference or has been as solicitous for his personal welfare as is the government of the United States. There is a reason for this. Our army is recruited from the farm, the workshop, the counting room and the merchant's counter. The American soldier is a representative American citizen, who serves his country when his country calls, because he is a patriot. And I take this occasion to pay a tribute to his patriotism, courage, zeal and devotion to duty.

"Now, as to soldiers being left on their own resources. The law is very clear, explicit and imperative on this point. Section 15, Act of Jan. 29, 1813 (2 Statute 796) provides:

"That whenever any officer or soldier shall be discharged from the service, except by way of punishment for an offense, he shall be allowed his pay and rations or an equivalent in money, for such term of time as shall be sufficient for him to travel from the place of discharge to the place of his residence computing at the rate of 20 miles to a day."

"The second controller, in a decision dated July 7, 1863, said:

"A soldier honorably discharged has a right under the law to an immediate payment of his pay and rations, or an equivalent in money, for such term of time as shall be sufficient for him to travel from the place of discharge to the place of his residence, computing at the rate of 20 miles to a day. It is part of his contract of enlistment, and must be paid; nor is he under any obligation to perform the travel if he shall choose to re-enlist or to stay where he may be when discharged. The government has fulfilled its obligations when it has paid him, and the soldier is not responsible to the government for the use he may make of his money.

General Orders No. 54, by direction of the secretary of war, dated March 22, 1899, are as follows:

"Officers and soldiers discharged under this order will be entitled to travel allowances for the land travel involved from the place of their discharge to the place of their enlistment. For the sea travel the specific orders issued by the commanding generals of the departments for the discharge of officers will state in each case that the officer is entitled to free transportation, and in cases of enlisted men to free transportation and subsistence on any United States warship within one year from the date of the discharge. When transportation or subsistence is furnished on such orders, the fact will be noted thereon, and also on the discharge certificate by the quartermaster."

"Paragraph 5 of General Orders No. 36, issued May 19, 1899, by direction of the secretary of war, reads as follows: "An enlisted man, a resident of the United States, serving in the islands mentioned in paragraph 4 hereof, who is discharged from the service in those islands by transfer to another branch of the service, or on his own application, whether by way of favor or purchase, or because of confinement by the civil authorities, or by way of punishment for an offense or for disability caused by his own misconduct, or on account of fraudulent enlistment, is by the operation of section 1,290, Revised statutes, and the act of March 16, 1896, (29 Stat. Large, 63), prevented from being allowed the usual traveling allowances to the place of his enlistment enrollment or original muster into the service, but he will be brought by the United States on a franchise free of charge."

So much for the charge that discharged soldiers have been abandoned by their government seven thousand miles from home to their own resources. Such a thing could not happen, never has happened and never will happen.

THE VICE PRESIDENT BRIGHT AND CHEERFUL

Seemed a Little Weaker, but His Vitality Stood Him In Good Stead—Message to McKinley.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 2.—Vice President Garret A. Hobart's wonderful vitality stood him in good stead and, notwithstanding he took little nourishment, he was unusually bright and asked Mrs. Hobart to read him the newspapers. He wants to keep up with current affairs, and when he awakens from a sleep he generally asks those near him if anything is new. He showed signs of weakening. An occasional spoonful of brandy and milk and a little grape juice were given to him.

BRITISH LOSS HEAVY

Known Total of 916 to Which 1,200 May Be Added.

ARTILLERY DUEL AT LADYSMITH.

Boers Again Shelled British Camp—Naval
Guns Replied Effectively—Boer Loss
Probably Heavy—Mules Stampeding
Caused British Disaster.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A careful calculation of the British losses in all the engagements since the outbreak of hostilities—excluding the casualties among the non-commissioned officers and men in Monday's disaster at Ladysmith, which are thus far unknown here—gives a total of 916, to which probably 1,200 will need to be added when details regarding the Ladysmith reverse are received.

This total is made up as follows:
Officers, 133; 19 being killed, 61 wounded and 53 captured.
Men, 783; being 137 killed, 492 wounded and 154 captured.

The war office issued the following additional list of 58 casualties sustained by General Buller's force from the time of the battle of Glencoe until it joined the force of Sir George White:

King's rifles—Four killed and 13 wounded.

Leicestershire regiment—One wounded, nine missing.

Artillery—One killed, one wounded, two missing.

Mounted infantry—Twenty-seven missing.

The last mentioned were attached to the squadron of the Eighteenth Hussars that was entrapped by the Boers after the battle of Glencoe. They were undoubtedly captured with the hussars.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—An unconfirmed statement is published that General Sir Redvers Buller has left Cape Town for Ladysmith.

A belated dispatch from Ladysmith, describing the fight, said:

"A couple of squadrons of Hussars had a narrow escape from disaster early in the day. They found themselves suddenly confronted, within easy range, by an overwhelming force of Boers, who seemed to spring from the bowels of the earth. The hussars were splendidly handled, and were extricated with only one man wounded."

The queen is credited with expressing sincere pity for Sir George Stewart White, and the officials are in no wise inclined to judge him harshly. So far as the public is concerned, however, while gratification is felt at the manner in which the isolated battalions surrendered, there is still severe criticism for General White and Lieutenant Colonel Carleton for allowing the column to get out of touch, for the absence of proper scouting and for not retiring when the ammunition was lost. In favor of Lieutenant Colonel Carleton, the explanation is hazarded that he believed it was imperative to the success of General White's operations that he should hold the position at Nicholson's Nek.

The British war office made public this dispatch from General White:

LADYSMITH, Oct. 31.—(7.50 p. m.)—I took out from Ladysmith a brigade of mounted troops, two brigade divisions of the Royal artillery, the Natal field battery and two brigades of infantry, to reconnoiter in force the enemy's main position to the north and if the opportunity should offer to capture the hill behind Farquhar's farm, which had on the previous day been held in strength by the enemy. In connection with this advance, a column, consisting of the Tenth mountain artillery, four half companies of the Gloucesters and six companies of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, the whole under Lieutenant Colonel Carleton and Major Adye, deputy assistant general, was dispatched at 11 p. m., on the 29th, to march by night up Belis-Spruit and seize Nicholson's Nek, or some position near Nicholson's Nek, thus turning the enemy's right flank.

The main advance was successfully carried out, the objective of the attack being found evacuated, and an artillery duel between our field batteries and the enemy's guns of the position and Maxim's is understood to have caused heavy loss to the enemy. The reconnaissance forced the enemy to fully disclose his position and, after a strong counter attack on our right, the infantry brigade and cavalry had been repulsed and the troops were slowly withdrawn to camp.

pickets being left on observation. Late in the engagement the naval contingent, under Captain Lambton of H. A. S. Powerful, came into action and silenced, with their extremely accurate fire, the enemy's guns of position.

The circumstances which attended the movements of Lieutenant Carleton's column are not yet fully known, but from reports received the column appears to have carried out the night march unmolested until within two miles of Nicholson's Nek. At this point two boulders rolled from the hill and a few rifle shots stampeded the infantry ammunition mules. The stampede spread to the battery mules, which broke loose from their leaders and got away with practically the whole of the gun equipment and the greater portion of the regimental small-arm ammunition. The reserve was similarly lost.

The infantry battalion, however, fixed bayonets and, accompanied by the personnel of the artillery, seized a hill on the left of the road, two miles from the nek, with but little opposition. There they remained unmolested till dawn, the time being occupied in organizing the defense of the hill and constructing stone sangars and walls as cover from fire. At dawn a skirmishing attack on our position was commenced by the enemy, but made no way until 9.30 a. m., when strong reinforcements enabled them to rush to the attack with great energy. Their fire became very searching and two companies of the Gloucesters in an advanced position were ordered to fall back. The enemy then pressed to short range, the losses on our side becoming very numerous.

At 3 p. m. our ammunition was practically exhausted, the position was captured and the survivors of the column fell into the enemy's hands.

The enemy treated our wounded with humanity. General Joubert at once dispatching a letter to me offering safe conduct to doctors and ambulances to remove the wounded. A medical officer and parties to render first aid to the wounded were dispatched to the scene of action from Ladysmith last night and the ambulance at dawn this morning.

The want of success of the column was due to the misfortune of the mules stampeding and the consequent loss of the guns and small-arm ammunition reserve.

The official list of casualties and prisoners will be reported shortly. The latter are understood to have been sent by rail to Pretoria.

The security of Ladysmith is in no way affected.

It was announced in a special dispatch from Ladysmith that the Boers again closed around that place, sending shells into the British camp. The two guns landed from the British cruiser Powerful opened fire on the Boers the next morning. The Boers brought up more guns, but some of them were silenced. It is added that the Boers' loss must have been heavy. The garrison at Ladysmith was described as being in good spirits and confident and the troops were full of fight.

REBELS DEMORALIZED

Young's Rapid Advance Puz-
zling to Them.

REPORTED FLEEING TO THE HILLS.

Telegraph Operator Caught—Telegram
to Aguinaldo Secured Saying Lawton
Was Dead—Small Cannons, Ammunition
and Food Supplies Captured.

MANILA, Nov. 2.—All signs show that General Young's rapid advance is demoralizing the insurgents northward. Prisoners report them to be fleeing to the hills. There are many deserters and sick men and the former are taking their arms to the Americans. The cavalry's rapid movements are a puzzle to the insurgents, who think that the Americans, in striking so many places, must have overwhelming forces.

Aguinaldo is personally conducting the campaign. He is asking the people for rice and is trying to replenish the army with recruits, but without success.

General Young's column entered Cabanatuan, north of San Isidro. Colonel Parker, with two troops of the Fourth cavalry, took possession of the deserted town. Captain Batson captured a telegraph operator and his escort, finding a telegram to Aguinaldo from an insurgent colonel, reporting that General Lawton was killed in a recent fight and that his body had been sent to Manila. The operator added that 600 insurgents were approaching Aliaga from Tarlac. Batson placed his scouts in ambush awaiting them.

Colonel Hays, with four troops of the Fourth cavalry, charged the towns of Talavera and Cobal, dispersing 150 insurgents and pursuing them for three miles without any loss. They captured two brass cannon and a quantity of ammunition, including many Hotchkiss shells. Captain Batson took a storehouse and quantities of rice, sugar, corn and 40 bul carts.

General Hughes, commanding in the Pisanay district, sent in an encouraging report. He said the island of Negros is now more peaceful and orderly than for 20 years. The planters are pursuing their business undisturbed by the bands of brigands who had long levied tribute on them. The Americans have scattered the brigands and propose to pursue them until they are effectually suppressed.

The British steamer Lebuon of Hong-kong, 500 tons, with a prize crew from the United States gunboat Castine on board has arrived here. She was captured while running the blockade of Zamboanga. She had unloaded her cargo of merchandise.

TAGALOS WANT PEACE.

Chiefs In Mindanao Made Proposals to
Otis—Rebel Appeal to the United States Negro Troops.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Mail advices to the war department indicated that through the efforts of Mr. K. Engelskjøn, a gentleman of Norwegian birth, who enjoys the confidence of the Tagalo chiefs in Mindanao, overtures of peace were made to General Otis at Manila. What action General Otis took was not stated.

They have suffered greatly from the inroads of the Moros and offer to submit to the authority of the United States on the sole condition that sufficient American garrisons be established in the island to protect them.

An escaped Spanish prisoner confirmed the report that the insurgents were running short of Mauser ammunition. He said, however, that they were well supplied with Remington ammunition, which they manufactured for themselves. They also manufactured dynamite and powder from petroleum and salt, which was shipped to them from Manila and taken into their lines at night. Of the 14 American prisoners held by the insurgents at Tarlac the rebels claimed that four had accepted commissions in the insurgent army.

Two Scotchmen named McKinley and Mackintosh, who escaped, said that the insurgents claimed to have 250 American prisoners scattered through the various towns, but they knew of none personally excepting Lieutenant Gilmore and his 14 sailors. The insurgents said they had two American officers in confinement besides Lieutenant Gilmore. Colonel Smith, at Angeles, sent to

General MacArthur a placard in Spanish which was found nailed to a tree outside the line. It was an appeal to the colored troops to join the insurgents in the fight for freedom and referred to "your brothers Sam Hose and Gray, whose blood calls aloud for vengeance."

TWO SOLDIERS KILLED.

One of Them Corporal Keder and Another Winsor S. Stanley—A List of Wounded.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—General Otis cabled the following casualties to the war department:

Manila, Nov. 1, killed—Twenty-second infantry, at San Isidro, Oct. 19, Company K, Corporal Ephraim S. Keder; Thirty-sixth infantry, at Luhoa, 29th, G. Winsor R. Stanley. Wounded—Twenty-first infantry, at Calamba, 23d, D. Edward G. Hellen, foot, slight; Fourteenth infantry, at Imus, 6th, H. Corporal Henry Overbay, foot, severe; Twenty-second infantry, at San Isidro, 19th, F. Griggin Andrews, forearm, severe; 1. Charles H. Pierce, thigh, severe; K. Haddy B. Johnson, leg, severe; Thirty-sixth infantry, at Luhoa, 29th, C. Corporal John Swank, arms, slight; James Pitt, back, slight; Hardy L. Lawrence, thigh, slight; Third artillery, K. Thomas H. Dow, shoulder, slight; hospital corps, James Rutledge, thigh, slight; at San Isidro, 19th, Claude B. Day, hand, slight.

PARTITION OF SAMOA BEING NEGOTIATED

United States to Remain, England or Germany to Step Out—Not Fully
Agreed on Terms.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The negotiations for the partition of the Samoan islands are proceeding rapidly and officials here would not be surprised if a final agreement was reached in the near future. The discussion is going on in London, with the co-operation of the authorities here and in Berlin. The determination was reached that not more than two powers, and preferably one, should govern the islands. It soon developed that an agreement was not likely to be reached giving the entire group to one power.

It seemed to be generally accepted by the negotiators that the United States would be one of the two powers to be represented, and that the island of Tutuila, on which the harbor of Pago Pago is located, would naturally fall to the lot of the United States, subject to the approval of the Berlin authorities and the United States senate. It is understood that the British authorities quite fully coincided with this view.

One of the remaining islands, Upolu, is of much value, while the other, Savaii, is practically valueless.

It is suggested that Great Britain cede the Gilbert and Solomon islands to Germany, the latter retiring from Samoa. The Fiji islands and some other points also have been considered during the discussion, but thus far Germany has not acted favorably on the suggestion, and there have been evidences that she preferred to retain her interests and make compensation to Great Britain. This remains open and appears to be the chief point remaining in the way of a final adjustment.

The foregoing general outline was given in quarters well informed on the general lines of the negotiation, although it was with the reservation that the understandings were merely formulative and still open to material change.

THREE DEAD AND THREE MISSING.

The Fatal Collapse of a Large Building
In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Three men are dead and three others are reported missing as the result of the collapse of a six-story building at 139 and 141 West Lake street. Considerable damage was done adjoining property. About $200,000 damage was done.

Glassworks Secured by Combine.

WHEELING, Nov. 2.—The National Glass company, the tableware combine, acquired two plants in the Wheeling district, for $202,500 the Crystal Glass company's plant at Bridgeport and for $50,000 the West Virginia company's works at Martins Ferry. The only plant in Wheeling outside the combine but the Old Hobbs plant, owned by the United States Glass company, is to be purchased by a local syndicate headed by United States Senator N. B. Scott for $52,500.

THE EAST END.

NEED NEW FIRE ALARMS

An Improvement That Should Be Made at Once.

COCHRAN COMING BACK HOME

An East End Boy Soldiering in Porto Rico Writes an Interesting Letter Home—Fire Bell in Old Volunteer Station Removed to New Building—News of the Suburb.

The residents of East End are desirous of enjoying as many improvements as the people of the city proper, but at present they are anxious to have fire alarm boxes placed about the suburb. As an instance, if a house in Helana should be on fire it would be necessary for some one to go to the fire station before the department would know anything about it. While the East End department has responded to several fires in that locality the firemen, in the majority of cases, have been notified by boys who went to the station. This, the people in the suburb claim, is an injustice, and at least eight boxes should be installed throughout the district at once.

COMING HOME.

East End Boy in Porto Rico Will Return to the States.

Harry H. Cochran, a soldier of the United States army stationed at Manati, Porto Rico, has written an interesting letter to George McKinnon describing that country and telling him it is now 114 degrees in the shade. Cochran is an East End boy, his mother a widow now living in this part of the city. The regiment of which he is a member will return to the states soon.

ELECTRIC MOTOR.

Many Improvements Being Made at the American Laundry.

Because of the uncertainty of gas the American Laundry Company has been unable to make regular deliveries in the past, but will, as soon as possible. After this, they will make regular deliveries every Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They are equipping their plant with an electric motor and will not depend upon gas in the future.

OLD FIRE BELL

Was Taken From the Volunteer Fire Station This Afternoon.

Firemen Finley and Terrence this afternoon removed the bell in the old volunteer fire station on Mulberry street to the new fire station. Complaint has been made about the school children ringing it. It may be arranged to have it ring at the new quarters.

Left Town.

Cornelius Ward, who has been employed in East End for some time, has left for Industry where he has taken a position.

Among the Sick.

The condition of Mrs. John Smith has changed for the worst and her friends are of the opinion she will not recover.

Missionary Meetings.

The Missionary societies of all the East End churches held their regular monthly meeting this afternoon.

A New Telephone.

A new telephone has been placed in the residence of Martin W. Elliott.

WATSON WRITES.

The Colonel Pens a Brief Letter Telling Why a Full Vote Should be Cast.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—It is hardly necessary to call attention to the changed conditions, not only in this city, but over the whole nation under the administration of William McKinley and Republican legislative bodies, when prosperity has come to all, or to remind anyone of the effects produced by the Democratic administration, under Mr. Cleveland, when in many places actual want and hardships existed that seemed to many too heavy to bear, and I ask pardon for calling up the recollections of such an unhappy past.

The election in Ohio this fall will be felt throughout the nation. If Ohio should pass over to the party of free silver, free trade and free soup, the enemy of the forces that brought about the blessings we now enjoy will be encouraged to greater efforts in 1900, when, if victorious, they will at once begin their avowed purpose to undo all that has been done by the Republican party.

If a voter believes the Republican party is right on most things, if not all, it is a duty he owes himself, his family and the Nation to use every honorable method to perpetuate that party in power. He can do this by kindly and argumentative talks (not contentious) with friends and neighbors, urging the great responsibility that rests upon him and them to that extent that a full vote may be cast and thus help to hold the party in power that we believe is to our best interests and the Nation's good.

Very truly,

WM. C. WATSON.

JUDGE SCORED JURORS

Jury in Mrs. Clark-Gray's Case Severely Called Down

BY JUDGE P. M. SMITH YESTERDAY

One Juror Made Affidavit That Although He Believed the Woman Innocent and Still Believes It, He Voted to Convict Rather Than Be Kept in the Juryroom.

LISBON, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Judge P. M. Smith sentenced Mrs. Clark-Gray, convicted of bigamy in marrying Forest M. Gray, of Wellsville, while her husband, Clark, was still living, to one year in the penitentiary.

In overruling the motion for a new trial Judge Smith took occasion to give a scathing rebuke to the jurors who, if their affidavits be true, perjured themselves when they took an oath to render a verdict according to the law and the evidence. One juror, Ed Heller, of Lisbon, made affidavit that he believed that unless the jury agreed upon a verdict soon they would be kept together from Friday night until the following Tuesday morning, that he voted for the acquittal of defendant for a number of hours, and believed the accused to be innocent and is still of that belief and would not have voted for conviction had he not feared they would be kept together until Tuesday. Four or five others of the jury made affidavits but afterwards made others leaving the case as it was before.

The court held that, as a rule, no act that any of the jurors might do after the verdict was reached and reported could affect the verdict. He thought that a man who would vote for a verdict of guilty against a woman he believed innocent simply because he feared he might lose a little sleep or be kept away from his business for a few days, to say the least, did not show a high sense of chivalry.

The effect of the forty affidavits, pro and con, left the case in the mind of the judge the same as if none had been filed. The defendant's great point was that she thought the agreed separation between her and her husband was equivalent to a divorce. If that be true it was a mistake of law, not of fact. Courts must enforce the law as they find it. Ignorance of the law could be used in seeking a pardon, but not as a defense in court.

In the days of Auld Lang Syne, about twenty-five years ago, Mr. Bishop was elected as the first president of the now famous and powerful organization known as the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel workers of the United States, serving several consecutive terms in that capacity, winning golden opinions from the iron and steel workers of the country. The manager of the NEWS REVIEW was at that time business manager of the Labor Tribune, Pittsburg, and was honored in working side by side with Mr. Bishop in the merging of the Sons of Vulcan into an Amalgamated organization of workers. Joseph Bishop is a true and conservative man, believing in the application of the golden rule in the settlement of all existing difficulties in labor troubles.

Before the marriage Kelly transferred certain real estate to the children of a former wife, William J. Kelly, Louisa Shane and Frank Keplinger, and Francis C. Bouduros, his grandchild. Cleanliness Is Akin to Godliness.
Testimony of a Physi-

There is a great scare in East Liverpool in consequence of a skin disease which has made its appearance, and the statement is made by some that it is what is commonly known as "barber's itch." I have consulted prominent physicians of this city, and they have assured me that the affection is epidemic all over the country, affecting alike men women and children, and is a germ disease. Some physicians assert that it is contagious, while others state that it is not. A pound of prevention is worth many pounds of cure. In order to be on the safe side, I desire to announce that, hereafter, I shall conduct my shop on a strictly antiseptic plan, thoroughly disinfecting razors before and after shaving. Further, I shall discard the use of the sponge altogether, using clean towels in each and every instance, thereby avoiding any possible chance of infection. Respectfully, largely attended and apparently less interest is manifested in the contest, the registration of voters in the larger cities is the heaviest in years. This indicates that the minds of the voters are made up and that they will be on hand on election day.

THE GOLDEN RULE.

Let the GOLDEN RULE control in the present labor trouble in East Liverpool. Mutual efforts, in the way of conciliation and good will, will not only result in good in the present difficulty, but will do very much to avoid trouble in the future, and bring an era of good fellowship between manufacturers and workmen.

JONES AND McLEAN.

A vote for Jones means a vote for McLean and Democracy, the downfall of prosperity and a return to hard times. The hope of Democracy is in Jones, as divided Republicanism means united opposition and the success of Democracy. Every true Republican should vote for Judge Nash and the ticket. Every Republican should be at the polls. It is certain that every Democrat will be there. Don't underestimate the power of your opponent.

WATCH OUT!

Watch out for the use of "boodle" from the hands of John R. McLean and his man Friday—one Myers, well known in shady political circles. Reliable information states that filthy lucre will be used without stint where there is promise of reward in the shape of votes for the Democratic ticket. Use every legitimate means to defeat the accomplishment of the purpose desired by the would-be Democratic governor of Ohio. The statement is made that agents well provided with money have been sent into all parts of the state. There is nothing to be feared even from the use of that powerful agency—money—if Republican voters will do their duty, avoid all side-issues, cut Mr. Jones, of Toledo, cold, and vote the straight Republican ticket, Judge Nash and the whole number.

WAS THERE?

Was there ever a time in the history of the party when the Democrats could or did point to the prosperity of the country as their work? Can you recall a single instance, where, in a campaign like this, under a Democratic administration, a Democratic speaker pointed to the prosperity of the country as the result of Democratic policies? Of course not. First, because, if it was under a Democratic administration, the country wasn't prosperous. Second, because, monumental as the lies uttered by Democratic spell binders have been, none ever had the nerve to tell a people suffering poverty and panic from Democratic policies, that they were prosperous. Compare with this the Republican record. Every time the Republicans have been in power, Republican speakers have needed no other issue than to point to the existing plenty and prosperity following Republican policy. And no Democratic denial was possible, for the experience of the people told them that the Republican was telling the truth.

FIRE AT SEBRING.

George Sebring's New Residence Caught Fire From a Defective Flue.

SEBRING, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—Sebring came near being visited by a disastrous conflagration yesterday.

The palatial residence of George Sebring, which was nearly finished, caught fire from a defective flue. The watchman at the residence gave the alarm, and in a few minutes the whole town was on the scene. At first it was thought impossible to save the house, as the whole side, the length of the chimney, was on fire, but by heroic work it was soon under control.

Some ludicrous scenes occurred at the Hotel Sebring as the 70 odd guests came rushing out, thinking the house on fire. One man had to be prevented from jumping from the second story.

The building was insured, but the loss will be quite heavy.

TO CONFER TOMORROW

Manufacturers Appoint a Committee Last Night.

STRIKERS TAKE THE SAME ACTION

This Afternoon and a Conference Will be Held Tomorrow Morning at 9 O'Clock Secretary Bishop, of State Board of Arbitration, Arrived Yesterday.

The outlook is very favorable for an amicable adjustment of the strike but the matter depends largely upon the action taken at the joint meeting of the manufacturers' and strikers' committees. Secretary Joseph Bishop, of the State Board of Arbitration, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon from Akron and went at once to the Mayor's office where he was met by District Organizer John G. Powell and three members of the local union, Mrs. Hayes, president, Miss Isabella Gallagher, secretary and Mrs. Sadie Hayes. They had a long conference and Secretary Bishop spent the time in trying to get an exact status of the case. A telephone message was sent to the Cartwright pottery and William Cartwright, president of the potters' club, and John T. Cartwright, a member of the firm, responded. They remained in session until after 6 o'clock discussing the matter and then the strikers' committee left, but not until Secretary Bishop had arranged for a meeting of their union this afternoon. He remained in conference with the manufacturers until 7 o'clock but did nothing except to learn their side of the case, and arrange for a meeting of the manufacturers.

THIS MORNING

A Conference Was Held With the President and Officers of the Brotherhood.

This morning Secretary Bishop called at the headquarters of the Brotherhood and held a conference with President Hughes and several of the officers of the Brotherhood. The situation was thoroughly discussed by the gentlemen. Should Secretary Bishop fail to adjust the strike he will send for Selwyn N. Owen and John Little, the other members of the arbitration board, and they will come to the city.

THE STRIKERS

Meet This Afternoon and Will Appoint a Committee.

The strikers met this afternoon and Secretary Bishop talked to them for one hour and 30 minutes. He advised them to arrange a speedy settlement of the strike and wanted them to appoint a committee to meet the manufacturers at 4 o'clock. This the strikers were not prepared to do, but will appoint representatives to meet the manufacturers tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

LAST NIGHT

Secretary Bishop Held a Meeting With the Manufacturers.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Potters' club and Secretary Bishop made an address to them urging upon them a speedy and amicable adjustment of the strike if such a thing were possible. He outlined the duties of the State Board of Arbitration in the matter and suggested a plan by which the strike might be settled.

After Mr. Bishop had retired the manufacturers appointed the following committee to represent them at the meeting: W. E. Wells, Laughlin China company; H. N. Harker, Harker Pottery company; J. G. Lee, Knowles, Taylor & Knowles; G. C. Thompson, Thompson Pottery company; John Vodrey, Vodrey Pottery company. The manufacturers did not agree on a basis of settlement, but left the matter in the hands of the committee, with full power to act.

JONES' RECORD

Some Interesting Facts About Toledo's Mayor.

HIS REVOLT AGAINST PARTY.

Refused to Accept the Rule of the Majority and as Mayor Violated the Pledges He Had Made Before the Election at Toledo.

In undertaking, by concerted, persistent means, to control the ballots of his fellow citizens in promotion of his personal ambition, a man fully challenges closest investigation as to both his motive and his record. Hence, it is clearly due to the voters of Ohio, that they have more adequate understanding than they now have as to the claim of Mayor S. M. Jones of Toledo for their support for governor at the coming election. Several points in that connection arise, two only of which will now be considered.

Jones as a Political Manager.

First—When but six years a resident of Ohio, Mr. Jones, as a Republican (though credibly reported as never having voted a ticket of that party), by personal effort secured his nomination as mayor of Toledo, in 1897, at the hands of the Republican party, and was elected accordingly. In promotion of renomination for that office in 1899, he, by personal effort, secured a seat as delegate in the Republican convention, still claiming active membership of that party, with unqualified approval of its policy and management. Having serious doubt, however, as to success, with his associate delegates free for exercise of their will, he provided a gang of more than 100 lawless men, who, under lead of a chosen employe of his, early ranged about the building in which the convention was to meet, and when that body had assembled, such appointed mob demanded admission, which being refused, threatened the life of the colored doorkeeper. The intruders then proceeded by main force to burst the door of the room from its hinges and rush in, filling the room, to the serious annoyance of the convention, while throughout its session their yelling, stamping, clapping of hands, and "Hurrahs for Jones!" were directed for insult and menace of every speaker not recognized as supporting the mayor's nomination; even the presiding officer being many times interrupted by insulting clamor, such shameful proceedings involving loss of not less than an hour of time; no interruption, meantime, attending the action of the supporters of the mayor. Such unlawful demonstration by the mayor's mob was, throughout, not only in his presence and with his full knowledge, but with his manifest approval, since otherwise it would not have occurred. The spacious gallery, reserved specially for spectators, meantime was packed, chiefly by such of the mayor's crowd as could not find standing space in the convention room.

Upon formal call of this convention for candidates for its nomination to pledge themselves in good faith to abide the result and support the candidates to be nominated, Mayor Jones absolutely refused to do so, with avowed purpose, if not nominated, of being a candidate against the convention's nominee, which purpose was openly declared on the outcome of balloting for that office. The result was his defeat for renomination, followed by his personal candidacy against the Republican nominee.

Immediately following the city election in April, 1899, Mayor Jones announced himself as a candidate for Republican nomination for governor, and to that end sought election as delegate to the Republican state convention, providing for the primary election a "Jones Ticket," specially emphasized in purpose by his own portrait, a scheme believed to be without precedent in Ohio. Despite his utmost effort, however, he was beaten by 1,060 majority. But his persistent effort for Republican nomination for governor was by no means abated, it being publicly announced that a delegation of "10,000 of the people" would be taken to Columbus by express trains from Toledo alone, for demand for his nomination; while 75,000 to 100,000 of "Jones portraits" would be provided for lapels of coats from all parts of the state. The result of the attempt to intimidate a state convention into nominating Jones was overwhelming defeat, though his name was persistently pressed for nomination, he having rented rooms there for that sole purpose. At the last moment he found the Republican party could not be intimidated, and his name did not go before the convention.

Failing with the Republicans, Mr. Jones at once appealed to the Democratic state convention for place on its ticket, where he met very little recognition.

Rejected by these parties, his next application for party nomination was to the Labor Union state convention; he there receiving about one in twenty of the votes cast for governor.

Thus repudiated by all, he proceeded with the "nonpartisan" campaign now in progress, denouncing all political organizations as "corrupt" and "evil only," assuming that no party refusing to promote his personal ambition can be fit to exist.

And yet, Mayor Jones has already organized a more absolutely tyrannical party than before known in Ohio, which he is manipulating solely in his personal behalf. It is mainly in promotion of such organization that he is now traversing the state, county by county, a chief aim being such demoralization of local candidates on all tickets, by promise of support of his friends, as may secure votes for him. To what extent this is to meet success remains to be seen. It would seem that the same might properly receive attention from the parties concerned.

Comment on such showing can not be called for. The facts presented should be sufficiently suggestive with intelligent voters of all parties. Why he is not now the nominee of a political party is very plain. The one question remains, whether the gratification of his personal ambition shall command the attention demanded by him.

Jones on Enforcement of Law.

Second—Mr. Jones' advent as candidate for mayor in 1897 was almost wholly marked by his open, unqualified hostility to crime and immorality, the more especial objects of his antagonism being liquor saloons, gambling and houses of prostitution. His position in such respects was indicated in his telegram to Rev. Washington Gladden, after the election, wherein he said: "I am elected mayor, in spite of the devil and 600 saloons." Up to that time no other man elected to office in Toledo has been as pronounced in that connection.

It is noticeable here that very soon after that election Mayor Jones wholly lost the vigor as to "saloons," made so prominent when a candidate. The enforcement of the laws was virtually abandoned by him and practical license permitted them. The result was that when a candidate for re-election last spring, he had no more active or effective supporters than the saloonkeepers. As indicating something of the condition in this respect, it may be stated that no other class were as liberal in financial support (as reported by him under the law), four breweries contributing thereto, the president of one of these supplying $1,500 for meeting a deficit of $2,426.29, in a total expenditure of $4,491.29, which included $443.60 (10 per cent), for 25,300 of his portraits for free distribution and street use.

The mayor bases his radical change of official action as to "saloons" on two grounds. Mainly, that "public sentiment" did not promise desired support of him in enforcing the laws, he holding that "no matter what law is on the books," the "only law to be enforced is the law that such sentiment will uphold."

Further explanation of the remarkable change in the mayor's relations to "the devil and the 600 saloons," can hardly be necessary. And yet, in a published letter of Sept. 18, 1899, he presents the case in another view, even more surprising and sweeping. He there says: "I can not find it in my heart to reject the belief that the same force—the same power—that took Jesus to Calvary—the power that re-deemed and will yet save the world—is the only agency upon which we can count anything whatever to aid in bringing about a righteous social order, in establishing the kingdom of heaven upon earth." In the same letter the mayor said: "It seems to me that nothing could be more ridiculous than to imagine that Jesus, who taught and lived and died for the philosophy of love, of non-resistance, of overcoming evil with good, would send a policeman after a saloonkeeper, or after any other wrong-doer."

Government to Be Abolished.

As at once seen, this unqualified declaration of immunity for "wrong-doers" of every possible class, would utterly dispose of government of every sort—human and divine. That a candidate for so important an executive office as that of governor of Ohio should thus formally avow such sentiment before the people whose votes he seeks, involves a question of mental condition by no means pleasant to consider. It certainly is due to such voters that they be advised of the extraordinary case thus presented to them. It becomes proper here to recognize the fact that in his official action Mayor Jones has sedulously refused to take action against lawlessness of whatever sort—from the first declaring the "Golden Rule" as his guide, regardless of "the laws on the books," of so little consideration with him. In a word, he construes the golden rule to mean that he must not enforce the law, even if men commit crime.

It remains to be known to what extent Mayor Jones may be able, by the extraordinary agencies employed by him, to secure support for the executive head of government in Ohio. Such voters as, with him, believe that mere sentiment should be wholly substituted for government, may be expected to indicate such view by voting for the man who declares that to be his one sole platform as candidate, while voters not yet ready for absolute abandonment of government, in whatever form, may be expected to vote for a candidate pledged to enforce "the laws" as he finds them.

This practical question arises: Under the policy so unequivocally declared by Mayor Jones, as now controlling him, what possible service could he perform as governor of Ohio? In fact, what use can there be for governor or other civil officer in this state if his theories are true?

SHOULD INCREASE OFFICERS' PAY

Corbin's Recommendation as to Those in New Possessions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The annual report of the adjutant general of the army, Brigadier General Corbin, to the secretary of war, was made public.

General Corbin sums up the military forces now in the service of the United States as: Regular army, 64,586; volunteers, 34,574; total, 99,160.

The report called attention to the fact that not a single life has been lost by accident incident to travel in the course of all the transportation to the Philippines.

General Corbin points out an omission of the law in failing to provide chaplains for the volunteer regiments, and recommends that chaplains be provided for as soon as possible, as the presence of one with each regiment is deemed very necessary.

He recommended that each officer of the several volunteer organizations and each enlisted man who continued in service in the Philippine islands after March 2, 1899, until honorably discharged, be awarded a suitably inscribed medal.

He also recommended that the pay of all officers below the grade of brigadier general should be increased at least 33 1/3 per cent while on duty in Cuba or our new possessions, as most of them have families that they are unable to have with them, and are therefore compelled to maintain two establishments.

He defends the present staff system.

Close Escape of a Car.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 2.—A Willson avenue street car, carrying 40 passengers, jumped the track as it ran onto the Willson avenue bridge. The car crashed into the side railing and tore it away. The front trucks went over the side of the structure, after which the car stopped, overhanging the gully 75 feet below. A panic among the passengers followed. Women fainted and men fought their way to the doors. Had the car moved another foot or two it would have undoubtedly gone over.

Captain Slocum Alone to Go.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The British government was obliged to refuse permission for the United States to send four officers to watch the Transvaal war, on account of the precedent which only permits one representative from each recognized power. Captain Stephen L'Honn-medieu Slocum, the United States military attaché at London, was selected.

NOT TRUE.

Another Democratic Fake Is Effectually Exploded.

ALLEGED STRANDED SOLDIERS.

Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn Gives a Clear Statement of the Law and the Facts Regarding Discharged Soldiers.

A special Washington dispatch to the N. Y. Tribune says: A vigorous by Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn of the campaign yarn about Ohio soldiers being stranded in the Philippines through the heartlessness of army officers, and the effects of snapshot regulations unwarranted by law, which practically drafted men into the troops under General Otis. Mr. Meiklejohn's "That whenever any officer or soldier shall be discharged from the attention was called to this report, which, as circulated in certain quarters, alleged that soldiers whose terms of service had expired at Manila and who would not re-enlist were left on their own resources, and he was asked what truth there was in it. Mr. Meiklejohn replied.

"None whatever. The statement is not only untrue, but it is infamous to circulate a report that reflects, as this one does, on the humanity of the government and the administration, even for campaign purposes. Why should the government seek to coerce men to re-enlist when, as has been demonstrated within the last 90 days, it can get all the men it needs for service in the Philippines. The returns show that up to Oct. 17, 33,091 had been enlisted for service in the Philippines, and, approximately speaking, 75,000 men rejected. No government has ever treated the private soldier with as much deference or has been as solicitous for his personal welfare as is the government of the United States. There is a reason for this. Our army is recruited from the farm, the workshop, the counting room and the merchant's counter. The American soldier is a representative American citizen, who serves his country when his country calls, because he is a patriot. And I take this occasion to pay a tribute to his patriotism, courage, zeal and devotion to duty.

"Now, as to soldiers being left on their own resources. The law is very clear, explicit and imperative on this point. Section 15, Act of Jan. 29, 1813 (2 Statute 796) provides:

"That whenever any officer or soldier shall be discharged from the service, except by way of punishment for an offense, he shall be allowed his pay and rations or an equivalent in money, for such term of time as shall be sufficient for him to travel from the place of discharge to the place of his residence computing at the rate of 20 miles to a day."

"The second controller, in a decision dated July 7, 1863, said:

"A soldier honorably discharged has a right under the law to an immediate payment of his pay and rations, or an equivalent in money, for such term of time as shall be sufficient for him to travel from the place of discharge to the place of his residence, computing at the rate of 20 miles to a day. It is part of his contract of enlistment, and must be paid; nor is he under any obligation to perform the travel if he shall choose to re-enlist or to stay where he may be when discharged. The government has fulfilled its obligations when it has paid him, and the soldier is not responsible to the government for the use he may make of his money.

General Orders No. 54, by direction of the secretary of war, dated March 22, 1899, are as follows:

"Officers and soldiers discharged under this order will be entitled to travel allowances for the land travel involved from the place of their discharge to the place of their enlistment. For the sea travel the specific orders issued by the commanding generals of the departments for the discharge of officers will state in each case that the officer is entitled to free transportation, and in cases of enlisted men to free transportation and subsistence on any United States warship within one year from the date of the discharge. When transportation or subsistence is furnished on such orders, the fact will be noted thereon, and also on the discharge certificate by the quartermaster."

"Paragraph 5 of General Orders No. 36, issued May 19, 1899, by direction of the secretary of war, reads as follows:

"An enlisted man, a resident of the United States, serving in the islands mentioned in paragraph 4 hereof, who is discharged from the service in those islands by transfer to another branch of the service, or on his own application, whether by way of favor or purchase, or because of confinement by the civil authorities, or by way of punishment for an offense or for disability caused by his own misconduct, or on account of fraudulent enlistment, is by the operation of section 1,290, Revised statutes, and the act of March 16, 1896, (29 Stat. Large, 63), prevented from being allowed the usual traveling allowances to the place of his enlistment enrollment or original muster into the service, but he will be brought by the United States on a franchise free of charge."

So much for the charge that discharged soldiers have been abandoned by their government seven thousand miles from home to their own resources. Such a thing could not happen, never has happened and never will happen.

THE VICE PRESIDENT
BRIGHT AND CHEERFUL

Seemed a Little Weaker, but His Vitality Stood Him in Good Stead—Message to McKinley.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 2.—Vice President Garret A. Hobart's wonderful vitality stood him in good stead and, notwithstanding he took little nourishment, he was unusually bright and asked Mrs. Hobart to read him the newspapers. He wants to keep up with current affairs, and when he awakens from a sleep he generally asks those near him if anything is new. He showed signs of weakening. An occasional spoonful of brandy and milk and a little grape juice were given to him.

All day long crowds of people gathered in front of the newspaper offices where the bulletins were posted. There was another gathering of sympathizing friends about Carroll Hall, but none except relatives were allowed to see the patient. Dr. W. K. Newton spends most of his time in the Hobart house, and he is now the only physician in attendance. Eminent specialists are directing the treatment through Dr. Newton.

Telegrams and messages of sympathy have been received, as well as flowers, from all parts of the country.

Mrs. Hobart last night sent the following telegram to President McKinley: "Mr. Hobart passed restful day and evening. He sends love to you and Mrs. McKinley, in which I join."

OFFICIAL LETTERS TO HAWAII.

Damon's Mission to Italy Disapproved by the Government.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—The steamer China brought news from Honolulu under date of Oct. 24.

Special Agent Harold M. Sewall handed to the Hawaiian government three official letters from Washington.

The first referred to the claims of British and other residents for damages for imprisonment during the rebellion of 1895. Enclosed with the communication is the opinion of Attorney General Griggs. The merit of the claims is acknowledged. It is recommended that the local government make settlement of some sort.

The second letter is in relation to Minister Damon's trip to Italy to secure laborers for the plantations. This came directly from the secretary of state to Special Agent Sewall. It was understood that the United States government disapproved of the mission of Mr. Damon.

The third letter was in relation to the title of the minister of foreign affairs. The Washington government ruled that the point was well taken and that the office may continue under its old title.
